

Palm Springs possesses two valuable assets; two assets that are beyond the power of mere man to improve, destroy or ignore. These two assets are the most valuable possessions of Palm Springs and are held in a trust that is impossible of breaking or changing. This is indeed fortunate, as the surging restlessness of man is such as to force his ego to suppose that he is invincible in the field of improvements.

The first, which is not the more valuable, is the commonplace weather, embracing the sunshine and cool nights. But there are thousands of places which possess sunshine and cool nights. The second, which is probably the more valuable, is bulky San Jacinto at the foot of which Palm Springs is situated, to bask in the sunshine of the clear winter days. Without San Jacinto's protection Palm Springs would be just another of the thousand places with sunshine and cool evenings. And it is more than probable that old San Jacinto, which now

Noted Germans Entertained By Thomas O'Donnell

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Donnell entertained the famous Dr. Hubert and Baroness von Oppenheimer Coqueville, both from Germany, with a desert chuckwagon dinner up in Cathedral Canyon yesterday, arranged by the Desert Inn cowboys.

Part of the guests rode horseback, others went by motor.

After luncheon, which was prepared over an open fire, there was singing by Jim, Whiteflower and Dusty.

Doctor Hubert is one of the leading heart specialists in Germany with headquarters in Bad Nauheim. The Doctor will return to Germany through the Panama Canal, leaving here on Saturday, Nov. 20.

Other guests of Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell were Mrs. Humphrey Birge, Doctor and Mrs. Henry Hoagland, Mrs. George Roberson, Mrs. Grace Hull and Mrs. Henry Clock.

Billy Leonesio

Billy Leonesio, young son of Fire Chief Bill Leonesio. Billy's father and Phil Casper, operate the Palm Springs Engraving Shop, so Billy's father-made the above cut, and The Desert Sun reporter "hooked" it. We take pleasure in introducing Billy, the handsomest and happiest youngster in the Palm Springs school. He looks like his mother.

Prominent screen and radio stars and other celebrities seen on the streets this week: Con Conrad, Eddie Cantor, Herbert Marshall, Frank Morgan, Shirley Temple, Lynn Overman, Jack Greer, Edgar Bergen (without Charlie McCarthy).

Shirley Temple Plays With Local Girls

Shirley Temple is just like any other little girl, enjoying the companionship of girls her age.

She took a special liking to two girls, Gloria Smith and Patsy King, daughter of Palm Springs Druggist Homer King, last Friday, when the three played together on the Desert Inn grounds, so she insisted that they come back to play the next day, which the two local girls did gladly.

Shirley arrived at the Inn last week with her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Temple of Los Angeles, and they are here for a two weeks' stay. Bicycles, scooters, and badminton rackets were among her baggage. Her newest exercising sport is rolling a hoop.

Steel Barons Will Spend Winter Here

The foremost steel barons of the country will arrive here soon to spend the balance of the winter. Among them are Benjamin F. Fairless, who becomes president of the United States Steel Corporation on January 1st. He and Mrs. Fairless will arrive here from their Pittsburgh home before Christmas.

Others in the party will be Mr. and Mrs. William Todd, the president of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Co. of Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Monroe of Chicago, another steel manufacturer; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Schlendorf, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Crawford of Massillon, Ohio. Mr. Schlendorf is vice-president of Republic Steel Co. and Mr. Crawford is president of the Eaton Manufacturing Co., manufacturers of automobile parts.

Another noted couple who will arrive here soon are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoover, who will also take a home here for the winter. Mr. Hoover is president of the Hoover Suction Sweeper Co. of Canton, Ohio. They were residents here last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Timkin, of Canton, Ohio, will arrive on January 3 to occupy the Thomas O'Donnell hillside home the balance of the season. They also resided here last season. Mr. Timkin is head of the Timkin Roller Bearing Company.

All of these people are members of the Brookside Country Club of Canton, Ohio, of which George Howard, golf professional of O'Donnell's Desert Golf Course, is the pro during the summer season. They are looking forward to a season of golf in Palm Springs this winter.

Red Cross Drive Starts Tomorrow

The local Red Cross drive will begin tomorrow (Saturday) and will continue until Tuesday evening, during which time 25 Palm Springs young ladies will solicit funds in an effort to raise Palm Springs' quota.

Memberships in the Red Cross will sell at $1, $5, and $10. A number of $5 and $10 memberships will have to be purchased here in order to raise the full amount allotted to this community.

Fifty cents of each membership goes to national headquarters for relief during major disasters. The balance remains in the local treasury and is administered by the local chapter in co-operation with the Friendly Aid Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Thus one half of each $1.00 membership, $4.50 of each $5.00 membership, and $9.50 of each $10.00 membership remains in Palm Springs for local relief work.

Citizens are asked not to wait for one of the ladies to call, but to contribute as soon as possible. Contributions may be left at the Bank of America, which is the treasurer for the Red Cross locally.

Mrs. P. A. Staley is chairman of the committee conducting the drive. The other members are: Mesdames Charles Adams, Bob Lerch, Ernie Fors, Arch Palmer, Bacon L. Clifton, Larry Adams, Phil Boyd, E. L. Parker, Rufus Chapman, Al Gardiner, Harold Hicks, Milton Hicks, James Oliver, George Roberson, Robert Ransom, C. E. Crundleton, Bill Seaton, Newton Hotchkiss, D. M. Boyles, Ralph Bauer, Misses Dolly Harrison, Marjorie Forline, Ruth Huextra, Lee Higgins.

The Red Cross Committee met with Paul Vernier, of Riverside, executive secretary of the Riverside County Red Cross, at the Desert Inn yesterday afternoon, and discussed the forthcoming membership drive. Mrs. Nellie N. Coffman served tea and sandwiches to the group.

The Man Who Built 500 Great Bridges

—Exclusive Camera Study by Earle Love.

Joseph E. Strauss, who built the $27,000,000 Golden Gate Bridge, now vacationing at The Desert Inn.

Golden Gate Bridge, His Toughest Job

While many were saying it was a fantastic dream and that it couldn't be done, Joseph E. Strauss, the world's foremost bridge builder, doggedly persisted with his plans and labors on his proposed world's largest bridge, for 19 long years, until last May, when he witnessed the dedication of the bridge he built across the Golden Gate at San Francisco Bay. However, his task was not completed until October, so he and Mrs. Strauss made plans for a long needed rest on the desert, and arrived here last week to spend several weeks at the Desert Inn.

The writer had an interesting chat with Mr. Strauss late yesterday afternoon and induced him to sit for a picture at Earle Love's Studio. "We've all marveled at your bridge, now the folks would like to see the man who built it," he was told. "I don't wish to disappoint your readers," replied Mr. Strauss, an extremely modest man, "but if you want my picture you may have it."

County Obtains Rights-of-Way on Reservation

The Federal Government has granted 41 miles of rights-of-way on local Indian lands to Riverside county and on Monday the county Board of Supervisors accepted these grants, thus enabling the county to assist in the building and improving roads on the Indian reservation.

Early this year the Chamber of Commerce Indian Affairs Committee requested through the county supervisors of the Secretary of the Interior for rights of way for roads along all section lines on the Indian lands and also the road leading into Palm Canyon.

These rights of way were granted by the Secretary of the Interior and were received on Monday of last week. The supervisors this week passed a resolution calling upon District Attorney Redwine to prepare acceptance of the rights of way.

Now the county supervisors may appropriate any money they see fit for the improvement of these roads and they have indicated they plan

Palm Canyon Transformed Into Jungle

A lush tropical jungle blossoms today in the heart of the desert, where skilled nurserymen have performed a botanical miracle by the transplanting of $20,000 worth of rare tropical plants and trees.

Seven miles south of Palm Springs, this fortune in foliage surrounds a crystal lagoon in Palm Canyon, where the be-sunged Dorothy Lamour and Ray Milland are engaged in making Paramount's "Her Jungle Love," first jungle picture ever filmed in Technicolor.

Palm Springs was selected for the shooting of this tale of tropical adventure only after Director George Archainbaud, Producer George Arthur and studio technical men had made an exhaustive search for a spot meeting all their meticulous requirements. Prospective locations on Catalina Island, in the Santa Monica Mountains and at Acapulco, Mexico, were surveyed before the movie makers hit upon Palm Canyon and pronounced it the ideal location.

Palm Springs, Director Archainbaud declared, had these advantages:

1. Unfailing sunshine of a peculiar clarity and intensity under which the color cameras bring out every detail

Correction

In the advertisement of Munholland & Co., entitled "Opportunity No. 5" the price quoted is $175 per acre. A few papers went out quoting a price of $157 per acre, before the error was discovered, this being a transposition of figures. Regardless of this, the property is a bargain.

Palm Springs Windshield Stickers

Here's a chance to give Palm Springs some good publicity. Put Palm Springs stickers on your windshield and luggage. These stickers will be seen by thousands on the highways and by travelers wherever your luggage may go.

The stickers are sold for only 5 cents each by Thrifty 5 and 10-cent store, the Indian Variety Store, and ALL of the local drug stores. The price only covers the cost of production and handling.

Seek Name of Palm Springs Veteran

Do you know the name of a Palm Springs man who lost his life in the war?

If you do, please communicate with County Supervisor R. E. Dillon in Beaumont or Mayor Charles K. Dewesse in Banning.

The local post of Veterans of Foreign Wars is seeking a new name for the post, and is willing to use the name of some Palm Springs man who died in the war. The post is now known as the Banning-Beaumont Post Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Messrs. Dillon and Dewesse are two of the officials. They declare the name is somewhat a misnomer, because the post includes Palm Springs, Whitewater, Cabazon and the desert area, as well as Banning and Beaumont.

In such cases the name of a deceased veteran who lived in one of the communities is often used, and the post is willing to adopt the name of some former Palm Springs citizen, now deceased.

STOEFFEN IN ACTION

Lester Stoeffen, popular pro at the new Palm Springs Tennis Club, snapped in action during the final match of the competitive tournament held at Le Boule, France, July 29 to Aug. 1. Stoeffen took first in this tournament, defeating Robert Ramillon of France in the final match.

THANKSGIVING

It is well to pause, at times, and ponder the blessings which come to the nation and the individual in a year.

The Pilgrims went through much of hardship, and disappointment as they experienced their first year in the land now called America. They had left England in order that they might worship as their heart and conscience dictated.

So, they established the first Thanksgiving day.

We are approaching another Thanksgiving day, and President Roosevelt calls upon the country to give thanks on November 25 for "abundant harvests and the blessing of stable employment" to many people.

In a Thanksgiving Day proclamation, he calls attention also to strife and war threats in many parts of the world while the United States enjoys peace and cherishes "no selfish designs against other nations."

The text of the proclamation follows:

"I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, hereby designate Thursday, the 25th day of November, 1937, as a day of national thanksgiving.

"The custom of observing a day of public thanksgiving began in colonial times and has been given the sanction of national observance through many years. It is in keeping with all of our traditions that we, even as our fathers in olden days, give humble and hearty thanks for the bounty and goodness of divine providence.

"The harvests of our fields have been abundant and many men and women have been given the blessing of stable employment.

"A period unhappily marked in many parts of the world by strife and threats of war finds our people enjoying the blessing of peace. We have no selfish designs against other nations.

"We have been fortunate in devoting our energies and our resources to constructive purposes and useful works. We have sought to fulfill our obligation to use our national heritage by common effort for the common good.

"Let us, therefore, on the day appointed forego our usual occupations and, in our accustomed places of worship, each in his own way, humbly acknowledge the mercy of God from whom comes every good and perfect gift.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington this ninth day of November, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty-seven and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-second."

JOB FOR MR. BARTON

(San Diego Sun)

Bruce Barton, topnotch advertising man, has been elected to congress from a New York City district on a platform of repealing federal laws.

That will be like trying to sweep back the Atlantic's waves with a whiskbroom. A modern congress passes laws and resolutions at the rate of about a thousand a year. More than 50,000 pieces of legislation have been enacted in the 150 years since congress started grinding them out.

Even if Mr. Barton could persuade his fellow members to stop passing new laws, he would have to stay in congress something like 500 years to get rid of those now on the books at the rate of one repealed a day.

But Mr. Barton, with his advertising genius for putting sales messages into plain, simple, intelligible words, might do another highly useful job in congress. He might sit in with the lawyers and bill-drafting experts and help them write some of the new laws in the American language. This country needs less legalistic jargon in its statute books, and more laws that ordinary people can understand.

Congress is in session and the taxpayers are wondering what's going to happen.

"SOME CROPS"

In the face of immense crops the United States is carrying a tremendous relief load and an increasing welfare burden. In the old days when bumper crops were harvested we did not know relief except in individual cases.

The United States this year will approximate the all-time peak of farm productivity, economists of the department of agriculture believe.

None of the major crops established an all-time record this year, but taken in the aggregate production was estimated at only 6 per cent below the record year of 1920. Economists believe it may never again be equalled.

Estimated cotton production of 17,573,000 bales is the second largest on record and within 400,000 bales of the peak crop of 1926. Production of 249 pounds per acre was by far the largest on record.

Corn production, estimated at 2,561,000,000 bushels, is one of the largest on record. The yield per acre approximates the all-time high. The wheat crop of 886,895,000 bushels is the seventh largest ever produced. Oats production was about average.

Bumper crops were produced in rye, rice, peanuts, potatoes, sugar beets and other crops which, while relatively minor, add millions of dollars to farm income.

The trend in agricultural production was rapidly upward until 1926 and was stationary from 1926 to 1931. It was notably downward from 1931 until this year.

The decline is attributed by Dr. O. E. Baker, department economist, to drouth, low prices for farm products, reduced production under agricultural adjustment programs, depletion of soil fertility and decline in rural wealth.

This year's extraordinary production is attributed to abnormally favorable weather, increased production per acre resulting from improved farming practices and high prices induced by low reserve stocks of most farm products.

American agriculture is shifting from "mass production" methods to more intensive cultivation. Production per farm worker had declined from 1926 until 1937. Production is being more nearly adjusted to demand than ever before.

National farm legislation is expected to result in a more even production. Scarcities, which result in higher prices and are reflected in larger plantings the following year, will be eliminated, economists believe.

A more constant level of production, adjusted to demand, with fluctuations caused only by weather condition, is expected. Thus, economists argue, whether this country can ever again experience the huge crops of this year.

MERRIAM'S HAT IS IN

Californians will not be astounded by Gov. Merriam's statement, made somewhat informally as work was started on a unit of the Central Valley project, that he will be a candidate for reelection.

Had he said he does not choose to run in 1938, it would have been the subject of lively speculation.

It is anticipated that Sunday's casual pronouncement will be followed shortly by a formal declaration of candidacy, pointing with justified pride to the condition of the State Treasury.

While balancing the national budget has been a topic of fireside conversation with slow progress toward consummation, California's fiscal situation has turned rosy. From a depression low of a $30,000,000 deficit, state income has exceeded state expenditures by very substantial figures. There is even the promise of a tax reduction.

It is still seven months until the time when candidates for public office at next summer's primary file with the county clerks. So far no one has announced his opposition to Gov. Merriam for the Republican nomination.

Among the Democrats, however, it is a different story. Some half dozen, including those with serious intentions, have declared their purpose of contesting for the Bourbon nomination. Speculation covers another two dozen. This gives promise of a lively summer campaign. — Los Angeles Times.

Fort Peck dam on the Missouri river in Montana, is generally conceded to be the largest construction project ever undertaken by man—larger even than the great pyramid of the Egyptian pharaoh, Cheops. The $200,000,000 of public funds to be spent on it will ultimately result in a vast pile of dirt, ranging as high as 242 feet over the river bed and extending across several miles of Montana prairie land. Behind this monumental upheaval will be created the "largest duck pond in the world."

"HERE'S TO ADAM"

Certain people in Columbia, South Carolina are becoming devout, sacrilegious or facetious. Figure it out for yourself.

A news item from Columbia says:

"And now—a monument to Adam. A decade ago Paragrapher Robert Quillen erected a memorial to Eve at Fountain Inn, up-State. Julius Walker, Columbia real estate man, decided to honor Adam. The result is a monument in the form of a white column topped by a concrete apple, from which two bites have been taken, and a serpent. At the unveiling on Walker's country place here guests joined in singing, "Yield Not to Temptation."

TRIAL MARRIAGES

Trial marriages are quite the fashion in Los Angeles.

A condition now exists that amounts to trial marriage, Director Paul Popenoe of the Institute of Family Relations deduced recently from license and divorce statistics.

"Trial marriage, long discussed as a theory, is actually here in practice," he said.

Dr. Popenoe cited the fact that 23,684 marriage licenses were issued and 12,680 divorce suits filed during the past fiscal year in Los Angeles County. The ratio, he said, has been about the same for 10 years or more. Suits for annulment or legal separation, of which there are hundreds annually, are not counted.

"If every adult married, divorced and then re-married once," Dr. Popenoe asserted, "the ratio of marriage licenses to divorce suits would be two to one."

"This is the ratio actually found here—but of course not every married person divorces and re-marries. Hence, a minority must re-marry a number of times, thus supplementing trial marriage by serial polygamy."

Reasons for the high divorce rate are complex; but childlessness, said Dr. Popenoe, is considered one very important factor.

"California has the lowest birth rate of any state in the union," he said. "Dr. Alfred Cahen, of Columbia university has shown that 71 per cent of all childless couples in the United States end in divorce court."

The Family Relations Institute has found that the majority of divorced persons never remarry. Dr. Popenoe pointed out that the last Federal census ranked Los Angeles sixtieth among the 68 largest cities in the proportion of population married and fourth in percentage of population divorced, being exceeded in this respect only by Portland, San Francisco and Seattle.

"If the public," he said, "is satisfied with the present haphazard, infantile, indifferent experimental attitude toward marriage, it will continue to depend on the movies, the wood-pulp and the radio crooners to educate its young people. If not, it will demand that home, school, church and state take the matter much more seriously than at present."

NO FOOD FOR SITTERS?

No work, no food, for the physically competent seems to be the old-fashioned idea of Lieutenant-Governor George Hatfield of California.

Americans enjoy abundance under their economic system and their form of government to an extent never attained by mankind elsewhere and should be wary of those who propose to change the American order, Lieut.-Gov. George J. Hatfield told the women's civic center at San Diego.

Speaking in commemoration of the one hundred fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the United States Constitution in Philadelphia, Hatfield warned that "We the people of the United States, the parties to the constitution," must determine whether the nation "shall continue to be a 'rising sun' or shall now become a 'setting sun'."

Apparently hitting at policies of the Roosevelt New Deal, he posed the question of what would have happened to the United States had the Constitution's framers "endeavored to set up a government that would supply 'happiness' to the people—a government founded not on the eMaster's teachings of 'seek and ye shall find,' but on a revised version of that teaching—revised so that it becomes the siren promise: 'Sit down and I will feed you.'"

Japan is making "progress" in China. The time will come—and that time is not far away—when Japan will progress backwards.

Parker Dam Is Gigantic Structure

Known as "the deepest dam in the world," Parker Dam today is 230 feet high, and yet its highest point is three feet below the bed of the Colorado river. Metropolitan Water District headquarters was informed that yesterday's pour of concrete brought the highest block in the dam to an elevation which is just three feet below that of the original river bed at the damsite.

Being constructed as an integral part of the Metropolitan Aqueduct, Parker Dam will divert water into that 392-mile water supply system, and will create a reservoir 45 miles long, having a capacity of 700,000 acre feet.

Unusual because of the great depth of its underwater structure, Parker Dam is being built on the Colorado river approximately 150 miles south of Boulder Dam and 180 miles east of Palm Springs. In order to reach a bedrock foundation, it was necessary to excavate to a depth of 235 feet below the river bed and to remove more than 1,700,000 cubic yards of earth and rock.

Placing of concrete in this huge excavation was started on July 29, 1937, and by November 16 more than 190,000 cubic yards of concrete had been placed in the dam, bringing the highest point in the structure to a point 230 feet above the bottom of the foundation. When completed the dam will contain approximately 280,000 cubic yards of concrete and will have a maximum overall height of 388 feet. The Colorado River's surface will be raised 70 feet behind the dam.

Construction progress reports, which include work on Parker Dam, indicate that at the present time the entire Metropolitan Aqueduct system is approximately 70 per cent completed. Stretching clear across the state of California, the aqueduct will take a billion gallons of water daily from the Colorado river and deliver it to Los Angeles and twelve other nearby cities on the coastal plain. Based on progress made to date, it is believed that the water system will be put into operation in 1939.

TAXES WORRY ORANGE COUNTY BUSINESS MAN

A letter is going the rounds in Orange county, and W. F. Blach, who spends part of the year in his Balboa Beach cottage, brought a copy of the letter to the Whittier News. The letter was addressed by a business man to his creditors, as follows:

"Dear Friends: In reply to your request to send a check, I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it almost impossible. My shattered financial condition is due to Federal laws, state laws, county laws, city laws, corporation laws, liquor laws, mother-in-laws, brother-in-laws, sister-in-laws, and out-laws.

"Through these laws I am compelled to pay a business tax, amusement tax, head tax, school tax, gas tax, light tax, water tax, furniture tax, sales tax, liquor tax, carpet tax, income tax, food tax, and excise tax. Even my brains are taxed. I am required to get a business license, car license, truck license, liquor license, not to mention a marriage license and dog license.

"I am also required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life: to woman's relief, the unemployed relief, the gold diggers' relief; the PWA, the CWA, the AAA, the PTA, and the AFL and CIO. Also to every hospital and charitable institution in the city, including the Red Cross, the Black Cross, the Purple Cross, and the double cross.

"For my own safety I am required to carry life insurance, property insurance, liability insurance, burglar insurance, accident insurance, business insurance, compensation insurance, earthquake insurance, unemployment insurance, old age insurance, and fire insurance.

"My business is so governed that it is no easy matter for me to find out who owns it, and I am inspected, expected, suspected, disrespected, rejected, defected, examined, re-examined, informed, summoned, fined, commanded, and compelled, until I provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire or hope of the human race.

"Simply because I refuse to donate to something or other, I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, fired, panned, held up, held down, and robbed until I am ruined.

"I can tell you honestly but for the miracle that happened, I could not inclose this check. The wolf that comes to doors nowadays just had pups in my kitchen. I sold them and here is the money."

A HOPELESS TAXIST.

Lions Invade Desert Village At Night

Lions to the right, Lions to the left, Lions all over the place—snarling, biting, roaring Lions—feeding on juicy roast Tom turkey. With songs, Lions' roars, and much merriment, the charter party at 29 Palms was off to a snappy start Tuesday evening.

The new club was sponsored by the Banning Lions Den, and Lions were there from Palm Springs, Pomona, Corona, Coachella, Long Beach, Ontario and all points east and west; in fact, 155 of them.

President Bill Miller of the sponsoring club had a lot of trouble in keeping the Pomona boys quiet as the district governor, Roy O. Day is from that den; and feeling their oats, wanted to show the new club members how Lions can roar. A fine array of talent was put on. Lion Roy O. Day, district governor, presented Miss Rose Paldar, celebrated opera singer from Hollywood, and all the stags were glad they had come. The Hopi Indian dancers from the Sherman Institute put on their tribal and Indian war dances. The president of the Palm Springs club, Joe Schobe; 29 Palms, Ted Holdeman; Leonard Smith, Citrus Belt Council, and others, were made chiefs in the tribe. Names such as Chief Rain-in-the-Face, Chief Spotted Cow, Chief Dirty Shirt, etc., were given to the boys, amid much laughter and bantering.

A group of 29 Palms boys, regaled the audience with western tunes on banjos and guitars. Then all the way from Los Angeles came the Hughes quartet, 1000 pounds of harmony. But they were youngsters—two boys and two girls, all under eleven years. This wonderful group of talented youngsters—now playing the Orpheum circuit—took the house with their harmony.

District Governor Day presented Ted Holdeman of 29 Palms with the charter and wished them good luck and a strong growth. Lion Leonard Smith presented them with a beautiful American flag, and Don McCoy received his Lion's key. A beautiful gavel made of black walnut, banded with an engraved silver piece, was also presented to the 29 Palms Club.

After all this wonderful and colorful array of talent, and an excellent dinner, the balance of the evening was spent with plenty of dancing.

REMAINS UNKNOWN MAN FOUND IN PALO VERDE VALLEY

Mystery surrounds the finding of the skeleton of an unidentified man, not over 100 yards from the Crossroads business section.

Apparently, the man had been dead for two months or more. Virtually all the flesh was gone, and one hand had disappeared. The remains were found in underbrush near the Colorado river.

The man was middle aged. He had a number of gold teeth. Four teeth apparently had been knocked out, and were in his throat.

The odd thing about the situation was that although the man had been dead for some time, odor of decomposition had not been noticed.—Blythe Times.

NORTHCOTT'S PAROLE VOTED

Mrs. Louise Northcott, convicted of the murder of 11-year-old Walter Collins on a Riverside county chicken ranch in 1928 and sentenced to life imprisonment, will be paroled from the women's prison at Tehachapi, January 1, 1939.

The parole board acted favorably on her petition and decided to release the 73-year-old woman to her husband, George Northcott, in Kutztown, Pa.

Her son, Gordon Stewart Northcott, was convicted of murdering several boys at the chicken ranch and was executed. The trial was one of the most sensational in California history.

Young Northcott fled to Canada. Delay was encountered in bringing him back to the United States. Clem Sweeters, then sheriff, remained in Vancouver for several weeks in order to bring the murderer to California.

SANTA ANITA RACES NAMED FOR CITIES OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Feature races for the coming winter racing season at Santa Anita Park opening Christmas Day and running 56 days until March 12, are going to be named in honor of cities and points of interest in Southern California by the Los Angeles Turf Club.

A start has been made with the issue of the first condition book, which outlines the daily program for the first eleven days of the meeting. These books are printed and distributed about every ten days, a week or so in advance of the events, and other cities and points of interest will be set forth later on.

The races for January 4 have been dubbed the West Coast, San Bernardino, and Palm Springs; and for January 5 The Coronado and Arrowhead Springs races.

TWO IN RIOT ACT TRIAL CONVICTED AT RIVERSIDE

Sheldon Brown and Raymond Brown, CIO strikers on the Metropolitan Water District aqueduct at Banning, were found guilty of violating the so-called "riot" act of California in connection with the beating of H. J. Barnard on Aug. 17, three days after the strike had commenced, by the superior court jury which heard their trial at Riverside.

Co-defendants James Adamoli and C. M. Groves, however, were declared not guilty.

The two Browns applied for probation, and Superior Judge G. R. Freeman, who presided at the trial, set Nov. 29 as date for hearing reports of the probation officer and passing sentence.

Rules For Mailing of Christmas Packages

With the Christmas holidays approaching when all over the world the postal services are put to their greatest strain, the editor secured from Postmaster R. M. Gorham the information below for Christmas mailers:

The postoffice will be open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. the two Saturdays before Christmas. Thereafter the office will close at 1 p. m. as heretofore (December 11 and December 18.)

Departure

East—5:40 p. m.; 8:40 p. m. and 12 noon.
West—5:40 p. m. and 8:40 p. m.
All parcel post at 8:40 p. m.

Arrival

East—7:00 a. m. and 12:45 p. m.
West—7:00 a. m.; 12:10 p. m. and 12:45 p. m.

Parcel post only at 12:10 p. m.

First class.—Letters and written and sealed matter, 3 cents for each ounce, except when addressed for local delivery; local letters, 1 cent an ounce. Government postal cards, 1 cent each; private mailing or post cards, including greeting cards in this form, 1 cent each.

Air mail.—Six cents for each ounce or fraction thereof, anywhere in the United States, including Alaska, and also to Hawaii when sent by steamship across the Pacific Ocean. The air-mail rate to Hawaii, Guam, and the Philippine Islands over the trans-Pacific air mail service is 20 cents to Hawaii, 40 cents to Guam, and 50 cents to the Philippine Islands for each half ounce or fraction of a half ounce. The air-mail rate between Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands of the United States, or the United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and the United States is 10 cents for each half ounce or fraction of a half ounce, and between the United States, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands of the United States, or the United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and the Canal Zone it is 20 cents for each half ounce or fraction of a half ounce.

Second class.—Newspapers, magazines, and other periodicals containing notice of second-class entry, 1 cent for each 2 ounces or fraction thereof, except when the postage at the rates prescribed for fourth-class mail is lower, in which case the latter rates apply.

Third class (limit 8 ounces).—Circulars and other miscellaneous printed matter, including Christmas cards sent in unsealed envelopes and bearing no unauthorized writing, also merchandise, 1½ cents for each 2 ounces; books (including catalogs) of 24 pages or more, seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions, and plants, 1 cent for each 2 ounces; bulk lots of identical pieces of third-class matter may be mailed at special rates under conditions which may be ascertained from the postmaster.

Fourth class (over 8 ounces).—Merchandise, books, printed matter, and all other mailable matter not in first, second, or third class at the following rates.

First	Additional pounds
Local..... 7	1 cent each 2 pounds
1 and 2..... 8	1.1 cents each pound
3..... 9	2 cents each pound
4..... 10	3.5 cents each pound
5..... 11	5.3 cents each pound
6..... 12	7 cents each pound
7..... 14	9 cents each pound
8..... 15	11 cents each pound

A fraction of a cent in the total postage on any parcel is counted as a full cent.

Exceptions

In the first or second zones, where distance by shortest practicable mail route is 300 miles or more, the rate is 9 cents for first pound and 2 cents each additional pound.

On parcels collected on rural routes the postage is 2 cents less per parcel than at rates in table when for local delivery and 3 cents less per parcel when for other than local delivery.

Parcels weighing less than 10 pounds but exceeding 84 inches in length and girth combined are subject to 10-pound rate.

Addresses.—Address all matter plainly and completely in ink, giving street address or box or rural route number, whenever possible. Place sender's return card in upper left corner of address side. Tags should not be used unless necessary, in which case a copy of the address and return card should be placed inside the parcel for identification if tag is lost.

Packing and Wrapping.—Pack articles carefully in strong, durable containers. Wrap parcels securely, but do not seal them except when bearing a printed label or endorsement, reading: "Contents, merchandise—Postmaster: This parcel may be opened for postal inspection if necessary," together with name and address of sender, as sealed parcels not so labeled or endorsed are subject to postage at the letter rate. The name and address of the sender may be handwritten or typewritten on the labels.

Limit of size.—Parcels may not exceed 100 inches in length and girth combined.

Limit of weight.—The limit of weight of fourth-class or parcel-post matter is 70 pounds for all zones, including Manila, P. I., but parcels for other places in those islands (except Iloilo, Cebu, Zamboanga, and Baguio, Mountain Province, for which the limit is 44 pounds) may not exceed 20 pounds.

Permissible additions and enclosures.—Parcels may be marked "Do not open until Christmas," this being permitted in order to encourage early mailing.

Written greetings, such as "Merry Christmas," "Happy New Year," "With best wishes" and names, numbers, or symbols, for the purpose of description, may be enclosed with third or fourth-class (parcel post) mail. Books may bear simple dedicatory inscriptions not of a personal nature. Other written additions subject parcels to letter postage.

Do not enclose letters in parcels, as doing so would subject entire parcel to letter postage. Communications prepaid at the first-class rate may be sent with parcels prepaid at the third or fourth class rate by securely attaching the envelopes containing the letters or other written matter to the outside of parcels.

Seals.—Christmas seals or stickers should not be placed on the address side of mail.

Special handling.—Fourth-class matter only.—Parcels of fourth-class matter, endorsed "Special handling" will be given the most expeditious handling and transportation practicable (but not special delivery) upon payment, in addition to the regular postage, of the following charge: Up to 2 pounds, 10 cents; over 2 pounds, up to 10 pounds, 15 cents; over 10 pounds, 20 cents.

Insurance.—Valuable parcels should be insured. The fees are: For parcel valued not over $5, 5 cents; over $5 but not over $25, 10 cents; over $25 but not over $50, 15 cents; over $50 but not over $100, 25 cents; over $100 but not over $150, 30 cents; over $150 but not over $200, 35 cents. Return receipt 3 cents extra. All in addition to the regular postage.

An Interview With Lester Stoefer

Lester Stoefer, second highest ranking tennis Pro in the world and the Pro at the new Palm Springs Tennis Club, this week discussed his European tour of this past summer with a reporter from this paper.

On May 4th Lester and Mrs. Stoefer left Palm Springs bound for London where Lester planned to compete in the World's Professional Championships, May 20 to 24. However, the tournament was never held, Stoefer stated, due to the fact that Fred Perry and Elsworth Vines refused to play in any competitive matches, and made arrangements instead for exhibition matches to be held in the Olympic Stadium, where the World's Professional Championships were to have been played.

Vines, Perry, Tilden, Martin Plea, Hans Nusslein and Stoefer all played in these exhibition matches, Nusslein by the way, Stoefer says, is the finest tennis player in the world, either amateur or professional. Nusslein has never lost a match to Von Cramm, another German sensation.

After the exhibition matches, Vines and Perry went on a two weeks' tour excluding the other professionals. They toured England, Scotland and Ireland. Tilden and Stoefer were included in a double match at Liverpool in which they defeated Vines and Perry.

After this match Vines, Perry, Tilden and Stoefer were to tour Europe, playing in tournaments, but Perry and Vines returned to the United States. From that time on a group of eight or ten top ranking Pros which included the best in Europe traveled around playing in tournaments in France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, and England. Included in this group were Hans Nusslein of Germany, Lester Stoefer of the U. S., Big Bill Tilden, Robert Ramillon, Henri Cochet, Martin Plea, and others. This tour lasted for the period of about six months.

Due to the fact that the World's Professional Championships were not held in May, plans were made to hold them during the latter part of September. When they were held in the fall, Nusslein took first place and Stoefer second.

After the Professional Championships Stoefer returned directly to Palm Springs, arriving here on Nov. 1 to take up his duties at the new Palm Springs Tennis Club.

Last spring Stoefer defeated Elsworth Vines in straight sets at the Racquet Club, and Stoefer stated he is anxiously waiting an opportunity to again play Vines in Palm Springs.

After the exhibition tournament in London in the spring, Stoefer, Tilden, and Nusslein challenged Vines and Perry to a team match, but Vines and Perry refused to play in any competitive matches. This challenge was made through the papers, Stoefer stated.

"A ROLLING HOME GATHERS NO MORTGAGES"

Roger W. Babson predicts that within 20 years half the population of the United States will be living in trailers. Others express the opinion that within a few years there will be 1,000,000 trailers on the road and 3,000,000 people living in them. And one enterprising trailer salesman has coined the slogan "A rolling home gathers no mortgages."

What will the addition of a million trailers do to our already congested highways and our accident statistics, even now a subject of grave national concern?

Take one phase of the subject—highway grade crossings. In the first seven months of 1937 there were 2433 such accidents, with 998 fatalities—both totals higher than for the same period of 1936. Another factor causing safety engineers serious concern is the possibility that legislation may be enacted by the present session of Congress limiting the length of freight trains to 70 cars. And the more trains the more accidents, a conclusion in which a Federal court in Nevada concurs in this language: "The frequency of train and train service accidents is directly related to the number of train units operated and when more train units are run than are necessary to handle a given amount of traffic the hazard of accidents in handling such traffic is correspondingly increased."

The building of a million trailers has some redeeming features. It will add to employment. But unnecessary duplication of train service will make business only for doctors and undertakers. That's a phase of business "recovery" we can afford to skip!—California Progress Review.

BIG DEMAND FOR BUICK CARS

Demand for Buick cars during October was such that a shortage existed in some models necessitating an upward revision of production schedules at the factory for November, it was disclosed at Chicago by W. F. Hufstader, general sales manager. With other automobile officials, Mr. Hufstader is in Chicago attending the automobile show now in progress at the International Amphitheatre. Buick's sales for the month, he said, were 18,009 units, paralleling the best month of this year, and an increase of 7,828 cars, or approximately 77 per cent over the corresponding month a year ago. In October last year, 10,181 Buick cars were delivered at retail in the United States.

Indicative of a sustained demand, the executive said, is that deliveries during the last ten days of October reached 7,439 units, with unfilled retail orders mounting. This compared with 6,067 in the last ten days of October, 1936.

Used car sales for the ten-day period were 10,476, he said.

Many of the latest and most popular books are being stocked by Miss Virginia Colville for sale or rent at the Palm Springs Book Shop, which opened recently in the Crafts Studio in the Plaza. Miss Colville spent season before last in Palm Springs and has many friends here.

Among the screen and radio stars seen on the streets this week were Dorothy Lamour, Ray Milland, George Archibald, Townsend Netherer, George Jessel, Deanna Durbin, Harry Cohn, Joan Perry.

NEW SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA TO BROADCAST FROM LOS ANGELES ON NOVEMBER 24

California which long has become the mecca of all arts will have its own state symphony orchestra. The inaugural performance of the California Symphony, seventy-five strong, with Maestro Karl Hajos conducting, will give its inaugural performance on November 24, over the Mutual Network 8:00 to 9:00 p. m.

Governor Frank F. Merriam will welcome this new addition to California's fold by delivering a brief address of felicitation. On behalf of the citizens of the state the well-known dean of author's, Rupert Hughes, will also speak and accept the California Symphony Orchestra on behalf of the music patrons of the state.

The new symphony orchestra was organized with the chief purpose in mind of playing in the smaller cities up and down the state where the populace has no opportunity to hear grand opera or listen to the regular symphony orchestras.

Who Are The Lone Rangers?

"Who and what are the Lone Rangers?" is the question that has been asked frequently by those who have observed men of the Plaza wearing the "Lone Ranger" badges. When the Desert Sun reporter asked some of the badge wearers this week, he received replies something like this: "A gang of right guys," who could be wrong.

"The sun never sets on a Lone Ranger," meaning possibly he is a fast traveler.

"Pou never saw a Lone Ranger having flat feet," so they aren't rangers after all.

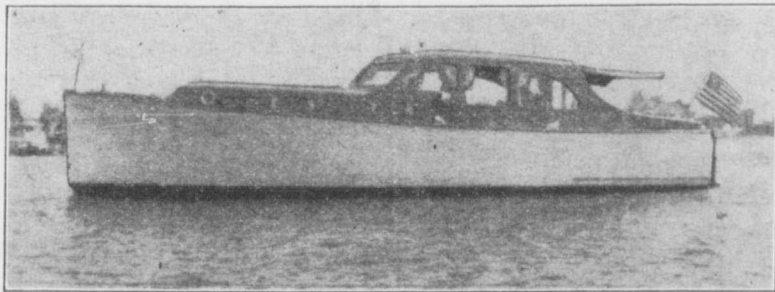

"It's a permanent organization and will make a place for itself in Palm Springs." It's been in existence several weeks.

At any rate, the reporter suspects the Lone Rangers consists of a group of bachelors living or employed on the Plaza grounds who are interested in promoting athletics and other wholesome recreations. So, more power to them. All we've met so far are "right guys."

Summer Home of Earl Gray and Family

A snapshot of Earl Gray's 40-foot cruiser at Balboa Beach. The trim little vessel has sleeping accommodations for 10 people, and the Gray family of four, therefore, can live comfortably on the boat throughout the summer, while they cruise in Mexican waters or along the U. S. coast and go on fishing excursions off the coast of the Corpus Christi Islands.

The boat has a speed of 25 miles per hour. It has all the modern conveniences one could desire, including radio, and a radio telephone, so those on board may communicate with anyone on shore having a telephone. Last summer Mr. Gray had occasion to place radio telephone calls to Palm Springs and even distant points on a number of occasions, and the calls came through as distinctly as over any ordinary telephone.

George Roberson and Jarvis Earl of Palm Springs, both have cruisers similar to this one at Balboa. Thus Palm Springs is forming a colony of sailors at the beach resort.

Lions Club Notes

Roy Day, district governor of zone 43 of Lions International, was the speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Palm Springs Lions Club Thursday, Nov. 18th, at Carl's Restaurant. His subject was "The Early History and Present Scope of Lionism." Lion Jimmy Cooper was chairman of the day.

District Governor Day also explained how the new zone advisory committee functions. This is a new and important change in district organization, as it gives each club, through its president and secretary, an active part in district activities.

The following local Lions were made Key Members and their keys presented to them by Roy Day: Francis Crocker, George T. Oliver, Clarence Hyde and John Sprague.

Local Lions and their wives who attended the charter night meeting of the Twenty-Nine Palms Club Tuesday evening, were President Joe Schobe and Mrs. Schobe, Mr. and Mrs. John Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Weingarten, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Henderson, George Foldes, Dr. M. L. Lachman, and Harold Barkow.

The Palm Springs Lions are planning a dance in the near future for Lions and their guests.

Turkey Shoot Nov. 18 to 25 Inclusive

Harry Mann has announced a Turkey Shoot running from Thursday, Nov. 18, to Thursday, Nov. 25, inclusive, at his ever popular Sportsmen's Headquarters (Rifle Range) on North Palm Canyon Drive.

In this Turkey Shoot men will compete only with men, and the women will have a special Turkey Shoot of their own. Turkeys will be given away for high scores in both the men's and women's competition, and turkeys will also be given to persons making a set score.

There will also be squad shooting. In other words, if a group wishes to form a shooting party of their own, a turkey will be given to the one in this squad making the highest score.

Some stiff competition is expected from some of the film celebrities who have already made some fine scores this season prior to the Turkey Shoot. Claude Binyon, scenario writer holds the highest target score of the season so far with a record score of 68 out of a possible 72 points, mighty fine shooting in any man's language. Fred McMurray follows close behind with 67, and Ray Milland is third with 66 points.

Floyd Bigley, local crack shot and the best marksman in the Palm Springs Skeet Club, should give the boys some competition with the rifle, although skeet shooting in which shotguns are used is his specialty. Bigley has made some pretty fair scores in past seasons.

John Rapp, owner of Palm Springs Electric Company who sustained a serious injury some time back when he fell from a pole, will not be able to compete this year. Johnny is considered one of the best shots in Palm Springs and would give the boys some competition if he were able to compete.

Al Taylor, local photographer is the surprise marksman of the season. Unheralded in the village as a marksman, he has made a number of very good scores so far this season.

Some good scores should be made during the Turkey Shoot, and the fellows mentioned above will probably push Claude Binyon hard during the season to hold his record for the highest score.

Rosita Moreno holds the highest score for women so far this year with the fine score of 61, and she is followed by Mrs. W. R. Burnett who has made a score of 60.

M. M. Ransom Made Dealer For New Heater

M. M. Ransom, owner of the well known Desert Fuel Service, has been made exclusive dealer in Palm Springs for the popular Quaker Burnoil line of heaters. The Quaker Burnoil is the latest type of oil heater and is considered one of the finest heaters manufactured in this country.

Handsome in design, the heaters are obtainable in five new models. The Quaker, Ransom says, with designs that spring from the modern trend toward streamlining, is recognized as "America's Most Beautiful Heater." He declares this type of heater generates more heat than the ordinary oil-burning heater, and also circulates more of the heat through the home.

News Bureau Will Soon Function

The Palm Springs News Bureau received additional encouragement last night when local business men met to discuss plans for the organization. The News Bureau will send out favorable publicity about Palm Springs to the press and magazines of the nation, and will take advantage of every means of constructive advertising within reach.

An organization committee headed by Florian Boyd was appointed and includes as members: Robert Lerch, Harold Hicks, Ernest Fors, Alvin Weingarten, Earl Gray and Herbert Samson.

The organization committee of the new community business promotion organization met on Sunday and Tuesday mornings and made definite plans for the program and organization of the group. Added to the long list of backers of the publicity organization were many representative local business people this week.

The program of organization for this season, as announced by the committee, includes the sponsoring of an efficient publicity service; subscription to national newspaper clipping service; cooperation with the All-Year Club of Southern California; and other business promotion efforts of the type which have proved most valuable to the community in past years.

Among statements heard from representatives of various groups including hotels, shops, apartments, real estate and other business interests are the following: "We're certainly back of the organization" . . . "Through cooperative community effort our advertising and publicity dollars go further and produces much greater results" . . . "It will save us all a lot of valuable time as we can refer everything of this nature to our community executive committee and will thus have all business people time and money" . . . "An effort such as this certainly brings results."

"Palm Springs will be kept increasingly active as America's greatest desert resort through this effort. It's the best manner of inviting people to Palm Springs." . . . "The news bureau idea has always been a tremendous success here just as those now operating in Miami, Bermuda, Honolulu and other resorts."

Desert Riders Are Very Active This Week

Wednesday morning the Desert Riders rode to Andreas Canyon for their second Breakfast Ride of the season with a goodly number in attendance. The Andreas Canyon ride is a one hour ride.

Sometime after 8:30 breakfast was served by Joe Ryan and his boys among the palms on the south bank of the creek.

Thursday evening the first supper and hoe-down was held at the Field Club under a beautiful full moon. Members of the Desert Riders and their whole families attended. The members began gathering at the Field Club a little after 5:00 o'clock Thursday evening for the chuck served by Joe Ryan and to join in the fun.

President Asks All to Cooperate In Census Work

President Roosevelt appealed to the nation for whole-hearted cooperation in a "complete, honest and accurate" census of the unemployed this week.

In a country-wide radio broadcast from the White House, the Chief executive said the huge task to be inaugurated Tuesday is necessary to furnish facts upon which the administration hopes to base a sound long-range program of reemployment.

Unemployment, he observed, had delayed the balancing of the national budget.

Badminton Tournament At Sportland

A badminton tournament is under way at Sportland, on the roof of the Plaza Garage, and the first play occurred Tuesday evening before a large gallery of enthusiastic spectators. This is a men's tournament and open to amateurs only. A handsome trophy will be awarded to the winner.

Following the men's tournament, there will be ladies' competitions with an equally valuable trophy as the prize. Then there will be tournaments in ping-pong and archery, as well as some of the other games played at Sportland. Special rates are granted to the players.

One evening last week Mrs. Florence Douglas entertained a group of friends at a buffet supper to honor Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Cavanaugh of San Francisco, who are house guests of Mrs. Fred Hunter. Among those who gathered at Mrs. Douglas' lovely home were Dr. and Mrs. Zanaga, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hewitt, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Cook, M. W. Dorsett and Tom Douglas.

Bowling League Score

Bowling slumps in the Commercial League caused the leaders another tie-up. The Bankers, who were leading the pack, were completely out-classed by Jerry Sanborn's Desert Grill five. The Smoke Tree Ranch Hands appeared with new uniforms, but were unable to bowl their usual strong series during the evening and lost by four points to the power company five. The Safeway boys took three points from Milt Hicks' El Paseo team.

The league is now in a virtual tie-up, there being only five games difference between the leaders and the last position.

The Palm Springs fans were completely surprised to see the Tarry Topping Hornets from Los Angeles roll the record-breaking series against the All Stars. Harry's aggregation piled up a total of 3049 pins for the three games, which is an average of slightly more than 203 pins per man. Hoping was high for his team with 640 pins, while Ludie Britsch was the leader for the All Stars with 620.

The Harrah Games ladies' team defeated the C. Grey team two games and total pins.

A Busy Day For Miss Lindsay

The way a person can become involved in the activities of Palm Springs was demonstrated by Miss Helen Lindsay, manager of I. Magnin's El Mirador Shop, over the weekend. Miss Lindsay, who was visited by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lindsay of Long Beach, was kept busy Saturday after the shop closed, entertaining them.

On Sunday morning she arose at 5 o'clock to practice for the stock horse class to be held on Sunday at the Gymkhana.

Finishing with this at 9 o'clock, she arrived at El Mirador in time to coach the models for the fashion show which lasted from 11 until 1:30.

Due at the Field club for the Gymkhana at 2 o'clock, Miss Lindsay ran through the Grill, grabbed a sandwich and class of milk on her way to her room to change to her western costume and arrived at the Field club at 2 sharp where she picked up her horse which was waiting for her, and entered the various events of the Gymkhana, then returning to El Mirador in time for a departing dinner with her parents at 5:30.

So completed a day for a typical Palm Springer, and, people say this is a lazy climate.

Swim Meet Successful Event

With the largest attendance of any event ever staged at El Mirador, the swimming meet held on Sunday was a huge success. The dives of the beautiful Olympic champions, Miss Ruth Jump and Miss Marjorie Gestring, and the small eleven-year-old Norman Spier, Jr., along with the fine swimming of Paul Wolf and Robert Boals, both of U. S. C., thrilled the crowd with spectacular performances. The professional events staged by Harold "Dutch" Smith, Mickey Riley, Farid Samika and Bill Lewin, who, according to Fred Cady, announcer and swimming coach at U. S. C., are the four greatest divers in the World today.

The program consisted of various single dives and a demonstration of double diving by Mickey Riley and Bill Lewin, and a comedy dive by "Dutch" Smith and Farid Samika.

The fashion events which were put on by I. Magnin and Desmond's Desert Shop made a balance of interest to make a perfect show. Miss Elaine St. Maur, fashion editor of the Los Angeles Examiner, was the commentator of the fashion events which consisted of the showing by a boy and girl the various Palm Springs sport wear.

The four leading news reels covered the entire meet and these pictures will be shown in every theatre of the United States by Tuesday this week.

Last P. S. Radio Program of Series Next Week

Miss Elizabeth Swallow's "Letters to Kim" regular weekly radio broadcast on Wednesday night told about the Palm Springs Indians, Agua Caliente sulphur baths, the early grants of land hereabouts to the Southern Pacific Railway, the old Butterfield stage, and some stories about Mrs. Nellie N. Coffman founding the Desert Inn. The program came over KFI at 5:45 p. m.

The last program of the series will be next Wednesday evening over KFI at 5:45, when Miss Swallow will tell some interesting Indian legends and the story of Jiggs and Mac, chimpanzees in the Paramount picture now being taken at Palm Canyon.

If those who enjoy the program will send cards to Miss Swallow at KFI or to the local Chamber of Commerce, it will be appreciated.

60 Couples From 50-50 Club Gather Here

Guests at El Mirador for the week included sixty couples of the Fifty-Fifty Club, which is one of the prominent society clubs of Orange county. Notable guests from Los Angeles included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hornblow (Myrna Loy), Mrs. Al Jolson (Ruby Keeler) and son Albert, Jr., and Mrs. Jolson's mother, Mrs. Ralph Keeler, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Wellborn, III, famous attorney and society couple, and honey-mooners, Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bunch.

Greyhound Wins Safety Award

Two of Greyhound's dependable courteous drivers proudly display the coveted Safety Trophy, won by Pacific Greyhound in competition with all bus companies in the country, and a model of the new Greyhound Cruiser whose safety features figured largely in helping win the award.

Pacific Greyhound Lines is again winner of the nation's highest safety awards offered by the National Safety Council! Competing with bus companies throughout the United States, the company's division No. 1 won first place in the small fleet group and division No. 3 the top award in the large fleet group, according to Earl Hensley, Pacific Greyhound's superintendent of safety.

Each division was awarded a large bronze plaque bearing the seal of the National Safety Council with the slogan, "Universal Safety."

In accepting the trophies, Mr. Travis, president of the company, stated that National Safety Council statistics show that the average bus is more than seven times as safe as the average private auto, while Pacific Greyhound Lines is actually 14 times as safe!

Pointing out that Greyhound has won the highest safety awards offered for inter-city bus fleets each year that they have been offered, Mr. Hensley said:

"The two biggest factors in Greyhound's enviable safety record are the buses themselves and their drivers. Greyhound super-coach equipment, designed by and built exclusively for Greyhound, are the last word in safety construction and skilled mechanics see to it that each bus starts its trip mechanically perfect. Once on its way the bus is in the hands of one of the best drivers on the highway, and this is borne out by the opinion of the traveling public. Greyhound operators are hired only after passing the most rigid physical and mental tests, after which they undergo weeks of intensive schooling and apprentice service as a 'co-pilot' with a veteran driver."

OLE HANSON RECOVERING FROM MAJOR OPERATION

Trafford Huteson, on his regular week-end trip to Twenty-Nine Palms, said his father-in-law, Ole Hanson, former Seattle mayor, is recuperating from a major operation performed in the Good Samaritan hospital in Los Angeles.

Hanson, head of the Desert Homes company, developers of a large tract in Twenty-nine Palms, recently disposed of his holdings there to his son-in-law, Huteson.

Vacation Next Week At Palm Springs School

All of next week, beginning Monday, Nov. 22, will be vacation time for the grammar school students of Palm Springs. The faculty members, however, will have only three days' vacation, for they will attend the Teachers' Institute at Riverside on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

Many Notables At Desert Inn This Week

The Flintridge School for Girls will be well represented over the week-end at the Desert Inn when Miss Ruth Roberson arrives with seventeen of her classmates on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Baker are vacationing at the Inn. Mrs. Baker is a candid camera devotee. Her husband is famous over national radio networks as one of America's leading announcers.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Smith of Rossmore Road in Glendale spent the week-end at the Inn; their daughter had as her guest, her roommate of the fashionable Mayfield School for Girls in Pasadena.

The Rangers Division of the Los Angeles Breakfast Club spent the week-end at the Inn. On Saturday night a cowboy orchestra furnished music in the dining room for dancing, and on Sunday morning the cowboys prepared a breakfast for the visitors in Tahquitz canyon. About 60 attended.

Shirley Temple, with her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Temple, are here for a few weeks to rest before Shirley starts her next picture.

Mrs. Van Cott Niven (Dickie Dell Doheny) motored down to the Desert Inn last week for a few days' rest. Her friend, Miss Cynthia Smith, accompanied Mrs. Niven and remained with her during her stay. On Armistice Day she entertained with a swimming party when Miss Lucia Raymond and Miss Sally Swigart motored down for the day. Mr. Niven joined his wife over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Stuart celebrated their 53rd wedding anniversary at the Inn on November 13th. Mrs. Stuart drove down from Los Angeles for the occasion. Mr. Stuart is the guiding spirit of Carnation Milk and has one of the finest breeding farms in the west.

A. S. Kirkeley, who recently became the managing director of the Town House in Los Angeles, this week brought a group of twenty friends to enjoy lunch in the Desert Inn Patio and have their first glimpse of the desert. Mr. Kirkeley is resident manager of the Drake Hotel in Chicago and his guests were all from the Drake.

Recent arrivals: George E. Crothers, San Francisco; A. W. Sheret, Victoria, B. C.; Captain and Mrs. Geo. W. Steele, Altadena; Mr. and Mrs. Phil Baker of Beverly Hills; Mrs. E. A. Stuart of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Smith and their daughter, Miss Virginia Smith, of Glendale; Mrs. E. H. Kron, Beverly Hills; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Holmes, New York City; Dr. and Mrs. Jameson Carr, Philadelphia; Omar Kiam, Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. F. Dougherty, Pasadena; Freeman Gates, Los Angeles; Van C. Niven, Beverly Hills; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Temple and Shirley Temple, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Reed, Beverly Hills; C. H. Clark, of Seattle; J. A. Butler, San Francisco; Commander and Mrs. A. D. Douglas, Coronado; Mr. and Mrs. James Newton, Denver, Colo.

Guests at Estrella Villas

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Miller, Santa Barbara, returned for another week-end of desert sunshine as guests of Estrella Villas.

Recent guests included: Dr. and Mrs. Lu Douglas and family, Hollywood; Mr. Gay Barnett and brother, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Church, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. White, Beverly Hills; Mr. and Mrs. Walter V. Dobbs and family, Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howe who are spending a month here entertained the following Beverly Hills guests for the week-end: Mrs. Julia Endelman, Mr. Clark Arganbrait, Mr. Harry Goodman and Mrs. Evelyn Waldo.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Schwartz have decided to remain at Estrella Villas for another week. Director Schwartz just completed the picture "The Return of the Scarlet Pimpernel," before leaving London.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Beryl and Mr. and Mrs. Oaks, prominent people of Beverly Hills, visited with Z. V. Decker, local realtor, Wednesday of this week. Both families are anticipating spending most of the season in Palm Springs.

Contractor Vincent Savoy started work this week on a guest house for Irving T. Snyder, of Coronado. It is a very fine structure and is being built on Mr. Snyder's estate in Las Palmas, where he has a large home.

ADVERTISE in The Desert Sun for best results.

Jack's Barn Opens on Thanksgiving

"Jack's Barn" formerly known as "The Barn" and then as "The Lariat," will open for the season on Thanksgiving evening, Nov. 25, under the personal management of Jack, the Boss Man, and Irene, the Boss Lady (Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bryant to you). Mr. and Mrs. Bryant have resided here for several seasons and have many friends in the village among residents and winter visitors.

"Uncle Zev," (guess who), the big attraction at every Desert Circus, will greet the patrons at the door when they enter Jack's Barn on Thanksgiving evening. Music for dancing and entertainment will be provided by the Barn's String Quartet, a group of musicians who can even make Uncle Zeb dance. The Barn will feature special parties, the Thanksgiving opening night being the first of these.

New hardwood floors have been put in and many other improvements have been made.

"No cover charge or no minimum charge at Jack's Barn this season," said Mr. Bryant. "We want ladies and gentlemen to enjoy themselves in the unique and cordial rural atmosphere."

CAMPS ARE POPULAR RIVERSIDE COUNTY VACATION

Approximately 26,000 persons registered at the three county recreation camps in the San Jacinto mountains, during the summer, County Forester Oscar Ford reported at Riverside.

Gains over last year were registered at Idyllwild and Fuller Creek camps, while a decline was reported at Herkey Creek camp, Ford said.

The approximate registration figures released by Ford showed 19,500 at Herkey creek, 1800 at Fuller creek and 4250 at Idyllwild.

Windsor Style Shop Opens Here

The Windsor Style Shop, an attractive shop for ladies who want the latest fashions in desert, resort, and sportswear, opened this week under the management of Miss Nellie Duder, in the new Colburn building south of the Plaza. Miss Ruth Easton is proprietor of the shop.

Miss Duder brings to the position not only several years of experience with Marshall Field & Co. in Chicago but a varied and interesting personal background which includes rubbing elbows with British royalty, stage and radio appearances and several years with the Chicago Civic opera chorus.

Born in England, Miss Duder is the niece of the mayor of Harrogate, a town which adjoins the ancestral estates of several members of the royal family. Miss Duder was in London much of the time during the years from 1920 to 1926, at one time was a guest of the late King George at a garden party in Buckingham palace.

Miss Duder will continue the same high quality lines of merchandise that have made the Windsor Shop so successful during the three years that the Shop has been in Palm Springs. The shop specializes in exclusive sports wear for resort and travel, hats and accessories. Especially attractive are a line of suede ensembles—coats and blouses, etc.

Villagers and their friends are urged to drop into the shop—they will always find a cordial welcome awaiting them.

REDLANDS VS. WHITTIER NEXT SATURDAY

With their eyes fixed upon the Southern California Conference's runner-up position, University of Redlands Bulldogs are bound to beat the Whittier Poets, who invade Redlands Saturday afternoon, for the visitors are the last obstacle they have to overcome.

Four of Coach Cecil Cushman's regulars will have an additional motive for wanting to turn in a victory, for they are concluding their gridiron careers at Redlands in this game. Jimmy Blaisdell, ace quarter, Mal Rink, No. 1 conference center, Kelly Moore, veteran wingman, and Ken Pierce, burly tackle, are the first stringers to graduate this year.

If Redlands beats the potent Poets, they will either take undisputed second place or tie for the position, depending on the results of the San Diego-Santa Barbara game the same day.

CAMPBELLS RETURN TO WINTER HOME ON DESERT

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Campbell last week-end returned to their twenty-nine Palms home after having spent most of the summer at Lake Tahoe.

The Campbells are building a new home at the lake resort. The summer was spent in the building of a garage, stone walls, making roads and a temporary house. They will commence the erection of the large house next season.—The Desert Trail.

3. The existence of a "natural sound stage" in Palm Canyon, which is as quiet as any Hollywood sound stage and possessed of unsurpassed acoustical qualities.

4. Accessibility to the studios, facilitating the transportation of players, staff, crew and the constant flow of all the multitude of "props" that go into the making of a picture such as "Her Jungle Love."

Two weeks of work and two dozen species of flora went into the creation of a veritable "Garden of Eden" in Palm Canyon, the construction and maintenance of which produced an interminable series of problems now even to Hollywood.

Unlike other jungles, which swiftly reclaim man's every foray, this botanical masterpiece requires constant care to prevent a relapse.

Any old kind of water, for instance, does not suit the highly discriminating thirst of woodwardian ferns, pandoradas, aurelias or robilines. Specifically, the water of Palm Canyon creek affects such plants with the vegetable equivalent of acute nausea. This little stream arises in sulphur springs, and in its winding path through the desert sands acquires a strong alkaline taint.

Consequently, many of these plants must be watered by hand every day with water hauled out to the "set."

Even more devastating than these natural obstacles was the man-made typhoon with which Director Archambault lashed the newly created jungle. The huge wind machines which whipped up the tempest that opens the picture did not damage the great palms, but wrought havoc among the fragile, tender plants transplanted by the movie men and made necessary extensive replanting.

Paramount's own vast nursery and others throughout the area surrounding the film capital were virtually stripped of several varieties of plants when the jungle was manufactured, and replacements of some species have had to be ordered from San Diego and San Francisco nurseries.

Jean Ceder, the man who manufactured the jungle, couldn't remember today just how many species of plants and trees had gone into this handiwork, but gave this partial list:

Tree ferns, elephant ears, doryanzenes, philodendrons, aurelias, pandoradas, acubas, coco palms, date palms, robilines, streptocarpus reginas, tropical water lilies, hyacinths, arrowheads, tulips, fans palms, palmettos, New Zealand flax, woodwardian ferns.

early to attack this local problem. The move means that a new road into Palm Canyon may be realigned in accordance with the survey made by the National Park Bureau, this being one of the stipulations of the Secretary of the Interior, who quite evidently had in mind the probability that eventually Palm Canyon and neighboring area will be made Palm Canyon National Monument.

Improvement of roads into the canyons naturally will mean more visitors to these beautiful places and consequently increase of revenues to the Indians. Opening up of roads throughout the Indian lands will result in more revenue to the Indians from rentals also.

So far as white residents and visitors are concerned, better roads will, of course, be an inducement to see interesting points hereabouts with greater comfort and less expenditure of time and effort.

"Dawn Patrol" 8 Planes Fly to Giant Rock

Led by Gus Parrish and accompanied by four visiting planes from Los Angeles, the local Dawn Patrol left Sunday on their regular breakfast flight, flying to Giant Rock Airport, located in the desert approximately fifty miles north of Palm Springs. Eight planes and 18 fliers participated, the largest group of airplanes ever to land at Giant Rock Airport, one of the most unique airports in the United States.

This flight is the fourth flown by the Dawn Patrol, a group of local fliers and enthusiasts who meet at dawn every Sunday morning and fly to some pre-arranged destination for breakfast. The flights are designed to acquaint students and visiting pilots with interesting places easily accessible by plane. Many such places have been visited, including the Date Palm Beach, a Salton Sea resort, which boasts the lowest airport in the United States, 250 feet below sea level.

Participants in the flight to Giant Rock were Madge Davidson and Bunny Alford in a Fleet biplane; Theron Keller and Lee Spratt in a Fleet; Ernie Smith and Kenneth Benton in a Fleet; Bob Bean and Elliot Brown in a Waco; Clarence Macy and Gus Parrish in a Kinner; Tex Staton and Harold Kellogg in a Karl-Keen; Colton Jackson, Ray Hanzlick and Bud Foster in a Fairchild; and George Strebe, Warren Strebe and George Annis in a Robin.

New Lawyer Locates Here

Elmer B. F. Collier, attorney-at-law, has opened offices in the El Paseo building, to engage in the practice of law. He is a graduate of the University of British Columbia and practiced as a barrister and solicitor at the Canadian bar, until ten years ago, when he became an American citizen and began to practice in Los Angeles.

In Canada Mr. Collier was a member of the firm of the Honorable Alex. Manson, former attorney general and now the supreme court judge. In Los Angeles, in association with Albert J. Sherer, he specialized in street improvement law, and real estate and estate law.

Mr. Collier will be a permanent resident of Palm Springs and his suite of offices will bear the address of Suite No. 1, El Paseo building. His lease extends over a period of several years, and was negotiated for him by William J. Cross of the Harold J. Hicks Realty offices.

Golden Gate

son," said Earle Love after he had taken the picture.

Away back in 1918, before any bridge had been built across San Francisco Bay, Mr. Strauss conceived the idea of spanning the Golden Gate. He planned a single span of 4,000 feet at first. The longest span before the Golden Gate bridge was built was 1800 feet. But he would build two piers on either shore so high that the bridge hanging to the cables between them would clear the highest floating things man might wish to sail beneath it. He would weave cables so strong that they would support any weight or stress.

Then he had to convince others that the bridge was feasible and that it could be financed. To do this he had to prepare complete plans and submit his estimates of cost. The marvelous thing is, that four years before the bridge was started he estimated the cost at $27,165,000, and in the face of rising costs of materials and labor during the four years that the bridge was under construction, he stuck by his figures. When the bridge was completed the figures showed the bridge had cost $27,125,000.

Mr. Strauss did another thing practically unheard of in engineering. He guaranteed his estimates, and his organization stood back of him.

In order to finance the bridge, a district had to be formed, taking in all the coast area from San Francisco to the Oregon line. The growth and prosperity of the San Francisco peninsula and the cities and counties to the north depended to some degree upon rapid and economical transportation between the great seaport and the resort, agricultural and industrial areas on the north. The Golden Gate bridge was to be the solution.

After he had been at work for some time on his plans for the bridge, four other bridges were built across San Francisco Bay, but none compared with the Golden Gate bridge in magnitude or beauty. Actual construction was not started on this bridge until 1933, and it was completed four years later.

Opposition arose from a multitude of sources. Both ends of the bridge were to be on military reservations, and the government had to be reckoned with. Mr. Strauss' corporation had to rebuild most of the Presidio in order to satisfy the government, so that the bridge would not interfere with the government's operations.

Women's clubs throughout the state, residents in the vicinity, and other groups raised protests to prevent construction, because, they said, it would spoil the beauty of the Golden Gate. Now they unanimously admit it has enhanced the beauty.

That his safety measures have proven correct and had saved 19 lives were the most gratifying things to Mr. Strauss. He asked for a huge net, costing $100,000, to be stretched beneath the bridge while it was under construction. He was told it would be a foolish expenditure of money. If it saves one life it is worth all its costs, insisted Mr. Strauss, and he had his way. Nineteen workmen fell from the cables and bridge during the four years, who would have been killed but for the life-saving net. Only one man had lost his life on the job until the catastrophe a short time before the bridge was completed, when 11 men were killed, in an accident which, it has been said, could have been avoided. These men were employed by an independent sub-contractor.

"What was the toughest job you have ever had?" Mr. Strauss was asked.

"The Golden Gate Bridge," he answered.

Mr. Strauss has built more than 500 bridges in various parts of the world. Among these was the Palace Bridge at Petrograd in Russia. Then there was the twelve million dollar bridge over the St. Lawrence river, at Montreal, Canada. He was consulting engineer for the George Washington bridge over the Hudson river. But if you ask him, you will quickly learn that probably his greatest pride is the accomplishment of what great engineers for decades had declared was impossible—the spanning of the Golden Gate.

Mr. Strauss has hobbies, too. He loves to write poetry and he is founder and president of the National Committee of the Citizens' Training Corps, the purpose of which is to train American youth for better citizenship.

Everyone who knows anything knows this pleasant gentleman is a great man, but Who's Who, Who's Who in Engineering, International Who's Who and the National Biographical Dictionary will tell those desiring to learn, many more facts about him.

Dr. Nourie Opens Office Next To P. S. Theatre

Dr. W. S. Nourie, well-known osteopathic physician, has opened offices in the rear of Chico's Beauty Salon, next to the Palm Springs Theatre entrance and Village Pharmacy.

Dr. Nourie, who is here for his second season, is the originator of the famous Nourie "N.F." Formula, which is receiving national acclaim as one of the best remedies for stomach ulcers and other ailments caused from hyper-acidity of the stomach.

He came to Palm Springs from Hollywood, where he was personal physician for Madame Schumann-Heink and her family, and many other Hollywood, Los Angeles and Long Beach notables. He plans on making Palm Springs his permanent home.

Education To Prevent Auto Accidents

Last week's issue of the Desert Sun gave a resume of an interesting speech made to the Palm Springs Lions Club by Attorney Ivan Kelso, Chief Counsel for the Automobile Club of Southern California. Due to lack of space, the latter part of his speech was omitted. At this time, while a safety campaign is under way by the Lions Club, the suggestions made by Mr. Kelso are of great interest.

In England, he said, they have contests in automobile driving throughout the nation, and Englishmen therefore learn to become skillful drivers. Barney Oldfield is a skillful driver, and he did not have accidents. However, Oldfield attributes auto wrecks to too much speed, he said.

"The National Safety Council says liquor is the principal cause of automobile wrecks, pointing out that 6162 drivers lost their licenses last year because of wrecks when driving while intoxicated; medical science says drivers should have more frequent physical examinations because accidents are due to human physical defects; optometrists blame faulty vision and claim many drivers have 'tunnel vision' and do not see hazards along the side of the road or approaching vehicles at intersections or drive-ways; garage owners say accidents are caused by defective cars and poor brakes; Ray Ingels says carbon monoxide gas causes many of the wrecks," and engineers say the highways must have enough travel lanes and must be so constructed that there cannot be wrecks, and our law enforcement agencies tell us we must have more officers on the highways," said Mr. Kelso. "All of them speak the truth. Highway accidents are from many causes," and to prove his point he produced newspaper clippings of accidents from unusual causes, such as running off the road into rivers and lakes, backing over children in driveways, opening or shutting doors while the car is in motion, a 65-year-old man who was killed while riding his grandson's scooter.

"Fifty per cent of those killed are pedestrians, and 50 per cent of the pedestrians are killed through their own fault," he said.

Huge beams of light to illuminate completely the rear ends of trucks and thus avoid rear-end collisions, beams of light to illuminate cross walks, elimination of railroad grade crossings, and dividing highways so that drivers cannot drive on the wrong side, were some of the remedies prescribed by him to avoid traffic accidents.

Public Library Notes

National Book Week comes in November; also Children's Book Week. These are usually celebrated with exhibits of new books, lectures on literary subjects by literary "lights," displays of rare and fine editions, of original drawings by illustrators, etc.—in general a calling of attention to the book world.

In none of the above named activities is the Palm Springs Public Library able to join. However we have gathered together some old books that have been given us from time to time and they are on display now. A copy of Cowper's poems published in the early 1800s, an odd volume of Alexander Pope's translation of the Odyssey published in 1806, two volumes from the complete works of Rousseau published in 1793, a much worn little book called "Account of the Experience of Hester Ann Rogers and Her Funeral Sermon, by Rev. T. Coke, to Which Is Added Her Spiritual Letters," published in 1831.

There will be a Thanksgiving story-hour for children on Wednesday, November 24th, at 2:00 p. m. (We have been searching for Thanksgiving Day material—so far the only thing we've been able to find is:

"Over the river and through the wood,
To grandfather's house we go;
The horse knows the way
To carry the sleigh
Through the white and drifted snow.")

H. A. Dart arrived here this week from Detroit to join Mrs. Dart and children in their beautiful home in Las Palmas tract. Mrs. Dart arrived here two weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Basel and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hutchens of San Pedro were week-end guests at the C. V. Knapp home in Little Tuscany.

One Cent Sale Huge Success; 1 Day More

Palm Springs first Rexall One Cent Sale was a success beyond all expectations. Last Friday H. E. "Pat" Patterson of the Palm Springs Drug Co. announced he would have a One Cent Sale all of this week, ending tomorrow (Saturday) night, Nov. 20.

By Tuesday evening many lines at the drug store had been completely sold out and Mr. Patterson had to wire the Los Angeles wholesale house of the United Drug Co. for more merchandise.

A truck load of merchandise was immediately dispatched to Palm Springs, and this is going rapidly. The sale ends tomorrow night, and by that time most everybody in Palm Springs who wants to attend the sale will have been served.

In the Rexall One Cent Sale, two articles are sold for the price of one, plus one cent. The customer buys one article at the regular price, and another one just like it for only one cent.

Newell Parker was re-elected president of the Riverside County Council, Boy Scouts of America, for 1938, at the annual election of officers held at Riverside, Monday morning, November 15.

On The Golf Course

Activities at the Desert Golf Club are on the up and up. More real matches are being played daily and there a lot of interest in golf is manifested.

Dr. W. W. Earles had another field day this week when he won every match, including matches with H. K. Dent of Seattle; Chase Garfield, Los Angeles; Mr. Mann, San Francisco, and even Geo. Howard, the club Pro. Hans Neilson of San Francisco had his best round of all time when he scored a 35. His playing partner was C. H. Clarke of Seattle, who, by the way, is playing in the low 40's.

Charles Bodin, from The Dunes, had a nice round of 35, tops for him.

Seen daily at the course: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Fisher and Chas. Jr., Detroit Fisher Body Co.; Mr. and Mrs. Ricardo Cortez, Mrs. J. W. Newman, Mrs. Al Jolson, J. A. Love, Hans Neilson, San Francisco; J. E. French, San Francisco.

Low scores of the week: Dr. W. W. Earles, 77; H. K. Dent, 73; Hans Neilson, 35; Chas. Modin, 35; Mrs. Al Jolson (Ruby Keeler) 38; Fr. Lehane, 69; Geo. Howard, 66.

We might add that Geo. Howard, professional at the Desert Golf course, since returning from the East has been playing exceptionally well, scoring par or under the last week. During the summer he gave over 500 lessons and still played well in Ohio events, winning three and finishing third in the State Open. Mrs. Howard, who by the way, has a handicap of 11 at her home club was runner-up in both the local and district events at Canton, Ohio. George comes from the Brookside Club at Canton, Ohio.

Weekly Suggestion for Better Golf: One of the most-asked questions at distance?" Here's a little tip. Speed of the swing is what makes a golf ball go. Weight is a factor. You can increase the weight of a golf club and increase the power of the blow you deliver, provided you swing the heavier club as fast as you do the lighter one. But when you decrease the weight only slightly and thus permit a faster swing, you increase tremendously the power of the swing without any extra effort or loss of smoothness. It's the speed of your swing that counts—how fast the club head is traveling when it meets the ball. Hence, if you want more distance don't use clubs too heavy, but swing faster.

Here's a suggestion for a new system of Handicapping: This system was approved by Grantland Rice, and the U. S. G. A., of New York. It has also proved successful to all the conventions which were held at White Sulphur Springs, and at Brookside Country Club.

At the Brookside Club the Committee selected nine holes (unknown to the players) numbers 1, 3, 5, 7, 11, 13, 15, 16, 18 holes for which par was 36. They found out as the players came in what the player had on the selected holes, for instance 43 strokes, subtract par 36 and double giving the player a handicap of 14. They then took this from the gross score of the day, giving the net on which most of the prizes were awarded.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The students of Banning Union High school were greeted with a surprise Monday morning, when the first edition of the "Static" was released by a few students of the junior class. The editor of the paper is Doris Dudley; assistant editor, Ruth Madigan, and business manager is Margaret Jellison. It is undecided whether or not the paper will be published monthly.

Work in the woodshop department is progressing rapidly. The freshmen are working on bookends and other small articles; the advanced class is working on corner shelves, nut boards, smoking stands and drawing tables. The boys in the metal department are finishing small metal dishes and watchfobs. In woodshop, there is also a class making the settings for the senior play.

Dr. and Mrs. Gunnerson motored to Los Angeles last Friday to attend a C. T. A. Council meeting. While in Los Angeles they attended the U. S. C. Oregon State football game and saw Joe Grey throw the pass that brought the Beavers to a 12-12 tie with U. S. C. They returned home Saturday.

The sophomore party of November 10th, turned out to be a great success. The bus, filled with an enthusiastic crowd, arrived at Tahquitz Canyon about seven-thirty. The crowd gathered wood to build the fire. After roasting weinies and marshmallows, the group sat around the fire and sang songs. Mr. Dale Porter sang several solos. Later in the evening, some of the students ventured up into the canyon. After an evening of unceasing adventure, the students went home. Miss Kueffer, Mr. and Mrs. Powell and Mr. Porter of the faculty, accompanied the students.

An interesting group of new students arrived and enrolled in B. U. H. S. from a number of Southern California cities during the past week, November 8th to the 13th. They are: Theda Watson, a sophomore, who returned last week from Fullerton; George Rosecrans, a senior from Escondido; Robert Parrish, a junior from Torrance, and Ruth Thompson, a student taking special subjects from Banning.

This makes a total of 342 students enrolled in Banning Union High school.

The debate given last Monday on the topic: Resolved, That baseball is the most popular recreation in America, was won by the negative. The negative side was upheld by Robert Carper and Bill Richardson, while the affirmative was Robert McGonagle and George Ellis.

The next debate will be on November 29, and will have the topic, Resolved, That the government should have control of munitions in time of war. The following people will participate: Marjorie Leach and Bill Richardson; affirmative, with Alex Crawford and Neal Gunn, negative.

Mr. Hanks, with the help of Dr. Gunnerson, is trying to gain an entrance for the debate club to the National Forensic League. The topic which will have national recognition will be, Resolved, That the states should adopt a unicameral legislature.

The Latin Club, which is under the sponsorship of Mr. Dale Porter, had a meeting Monday, November 15. They opened the meeting by singing "Le Cano Patria." After the song William Gibbs gave a report on Augustus.

The newly elected officers are Charles Harrington, president; Dorothy Cain, vice-president; and Virginia Valentine, secretary and treasurer.

The meeting was brought to a close by singing three old Latin songs: Nonne Dormis, Anna Laura and Sancta Lucia.

During Thanksgiving week, an art exhibition will be held at the County Teachers' Institute in Riverside of which the Banning Union High School art department will be represents.

The first period students have just completed their color books, and the second period students have finished a few weeks work on landscapes and still life drawings in charcoal, pastel and water colors. The students are now working on quick sketches from a model. The sixth period class is more advanced and the students have finished making food posters. Their next projects are: Leather tooling, stage setting, costume designing, and water colors.

Ransom Becomes National Secretary of Boys' Town

C. A. Ransom, father of Robert Ransom and M. M. Ransom of Palm Springs, has achieved his life's ambition and is now engaged in a nation-wide scale in the work in which he has always been interested, viz: boys' work. He is the national field secretary of Boys' Town.

Mr. Ransom has long been active in assisting underprivileged boys, and while investigating the various programs for boys he studied Dr. Flanagan's Boys' Town, which is located 10 miles west of Omaha, Nebraska.

When he found that Father Flanagan had trained and educated more than 5,000 boys during the past 20 years who otherwise would not have had these advantages, and that not one of these boys has gone wrong since leaving Boys' Town, Mr. Ransom immediately put his shoulder to the wheel to assist in the work. He was instrumental in having Liberty Magazine tell the story of Boys' Town, and to get Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to make a feature picture of the story, with Spencer Tracy playing the part of Father Flanagan. The picture is now in production and is slated to be one of the best pictures of the year.

Mr. Ransom has accomplished so much for Boys' Town, that he was appointed national field secretary. His duties take him to all parts of the nation where he uses his influence to persuade others to assist in the work.

Mr. Ransom has been here the past week visiting with his two sons, and was a house guest at the home of his son, Robert, in Palm Canyon Estates.

While discussing the matter with the Desert Sun editor this week, Mr. Ransom's face beamed with enthusiasm as he told of the work and the appreciation exemplified by the happy boys. "It costs only $15 a month to take care of a boy in Boys' Town," he said, "and if more people could see the marvelous work that has been accomplished on that 320-acre farm, there would be more contributors to the fund. Many service clubs are now sponsoring a boy there. The value of the training the boys receive cannot be measured in dollars and cents." Incidentally, Mr. Ransom is giving his entire time to the work without compensation and is paying all his own expenses.

"Some people have the impression that Boys' Town is a Catholic institution because it was started and the work is carried on by Father Flanagan," he said. "It is non-sectarian, and people of all denominations are assisting. For instance, I am a member of the Christian Science church."

Mr. Ransom is a member of the board of directors of the Christian Science church. His son, Robert, is the developer of the Palm Springs Plaza, the Carnell building, and several subdivisions. His other son, M. M. Ransom, has also been very active here, and is the owner and operator of the Desert Fuel Service.

Miss Kueffer's home management class, dealing with house decoration and house care, has recently finished individual projects. Some of the following articles were made: curtains, pillow slips, scarfs, and table sets. The girls are now working on budgets. In the food and clothing classes the students are working on various projects.

Boy Takes Put-Put; Picked Up By Officers

A 15-year-old Palm Springs youth was picked up on suspicion by Banning police last week Thursday night, at 2:30 a. m., when he rode through that town on a put-put bike. The Banning police phoned the Palm Springs police station, and learned that one of the little chuggers had been taken from John Dickey's put-put and bike stand.

The boy was brought to Palm Springs and here he confessed that he had taken the machine just to "go for a ride." He also admitted a half dozen thefts from cars. In each case he took from the automobile, blankets, flashlights or whatever he found handy. The boy was turned over to juvenile authorities at Riverside.

Meet Your Son

By ERNEST ANDREW ROGERS
National Child Welfare Authority;
President, Montezuma School
for Boys

The selfish boy inevitably becomes an intolerant, bigoted, unhappy man, for he has learned to recognize only one point of view—his own.

And it is tragic, but true, that the seeds of intolerance too often are planted in a child by those who love him most and wish most deeply for his success and happiness—his parents and other well-meaning kinsfolk. By pampering, by making daily sacrifice, by building the life of the household around the child, and by making him the star performer there, mother love and father adoration easily defeat their own ends, creating a selfish, narrow, unpopular and unhappy child.

Greater sacrifice is required to create a great-hearted, unselfish personality in your boy than a selfish, narrow one. The fact that selfishness is a perfectly natural instinct—a hold-over from times when there were no rules for cooperative living—makes the task no easier.

When your boy is still in rompers, start cultivating in him the desire to share. When you give him a cookie, see that he gives part of it back to you, so that he may learn the fun of sharing. Make it reciprocal; share what you have with him. From such simple beginnings the habit of generosity is built.

If selfishness already has developed, you can break it by centering the boy's attention on other people—getting him to do things for others. One of the most thoroughly self-centered youngsters I ever saw was cured that way. I purposely assigned to him a room-mate who was lonesome and in need of friends, asking that as a favor to me, he make it his job to look out for the homesick boy and try to keep him happy.

Having had things done for him all his life, he was delighted to be chosen to do something for someone else. He became absorbed in the job, and step by step I was able to build up his consideration for others until he became one of the most thoughtful and best-liked boys in the school.

The interest of the selfish youngster must be drawn outside himself to some worth-while project, such as Boy Scout work or athletics, where he must begin simply as a cog. In nine cases out of ten he will become one of the leaders; for the selfish boy doesn't lack ambition; he's full of it. But the urge can be turned to good account, teaching him the lesson of "live and let live," of tolerance and unselfishness.

SEN. PHILLIPS RETURNING FROM EUROPE SOON

Senator John Phillips of Banning, whose photography hobby landed him in a Soviet jail at Kiev, Russia, recently, is expected to arrive home sometime between Nov. 25 and Dec. 1, it was learned from his family today.

Senator Phillips originally was scheduled to arrive here Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 25 but has been delayed by sailing arrangements. Mrs. Phillips has been informed.

The Riverside county legislator has been touring Europe since June, being accompanied by Mrs. Phillips and their children for the earlier part of the trip. They parted when he was ready to enter Russia. It was in Kiev that he was picked up for investigation because he was photographing street scenes and was held in jail an hour before he established his identity and gained his liberty.

Mrs. Phillips and children arrived home recently and are at their Banning home.

In Europe Senator Phillips attended a dairying conference in Germany and has made an exhaustive study of marketing methods of European countries.

PRISON CAMP NOW IN PROCESS OF MOVING

Moving of the county industrial prison camp from Keen Camp to Banning is proceeding steadily under the direction of Sup't. E. C. Wickerd, and it is assured that the task will be completed by Dec. 15, Supervisor Robert E. Dillon states.

"Already all the utilities have been connected and foundations constructed for the tanks and mess hall. The machine shop is completed and one tank is up," Dillon said.

If weather is favorable, all remaining road work in the vicinity of the old camp will be finished within two weeks.

The new site, situated one mile from the city of Banning, comprises 30 acres of level land. It is located near the old J. R. Fountain place, just east of San Geronimo avenue.

"DR. SYN" BOUND TO THRILL EVERYONE

George Arliss, looking fit and youthful after a long holiday in Monte Carlo, celebrated his birthday by completing his role in his newest film, "Dr. Syn," based on Thorndyke's story of the Kentish smugglers, on which more than a million copies have been sold. "Dr. Syn" is now playing at the Plaza Theatre.

The story of "Dr. Syn" is full of action—it deals with the smuggling exploits of a well-known Kentish fishing village more than a hundred years ago; it has humor, tension, excitement.

Margaret Lockwood, a Gaumont "find," plays Imogene, the heroine; John Loder plays her lover; Muriel George is the buxom landlady of the smuggler's inn. Wally Patch is a his fine role in "Silent Barriers") is captain of a company of revenue men; fat boy Graham Moffatt has a fat part too; Athole Stewart, Alan Whittaker, Fewlass Llewellyn, Frederick Burtwell, Wilson Coleman are also in the cast, and a German character actor, Meinhard Maur, is a curious, creepy half-breed.

romance "This Way Please" which opens Monday night at the Plaza Theatre for three days.

Conceived in the gay tradition which made "Waikiki Wedding," "Turn Off the Moon" and other musical comedies the smash hits of the year, "This Way Please" goes all the way in giving a full portion of side-splitting humor, ear-catching melodies and the wholesome brand of romance.

In addition to the three top-notch radio humorists, the comedy brings to the screen Charles "Buddy" Rogers as a heart-breaking band leader, the vivacious, blond Betty Grable, who cannot resist his allure, that perpetually sour-pussed comedian, Ned Sparks in the role of a phoney-idea press agent, and Lee Bowman, who made such an impression in "I Met Him in Paris," "Last Train From Madrid" and "Sophie Lang Goes West," as the enterprising theatre manager. Also add, for generous measure, a quartet of outstanding comedians in Rufe Davis, Roma Vincent, Wally Vernon and Jerry Bergen and a chorus of beautiful girls trained by LeRoy Prinz, Paramount dance director.

ROMANCE AND HISTORY MAKE EXCITING FILM

The stirring history of the discovery of oil and the development of the oil industry in America serves as a background for the strange romance of Irene Dunne and Randolph Scott in "High, Wide and Handsome," which opens Thursday, Nov. 25 at the Plaza Theatre. The love between Scott, a hard-bitten farmer of indomitable will, and Miss Dunne, a gay, light-hearted carnival singer, which is accented and abetted by the haunting music of Jerome Kern, makes one of the most absorbing stories the screen has seen.

Scott meets Miss Dunne when she comes to Titusville with her show, and they fall in love without knowing it, during her stay in town. The knowledge that they are in love does not come to them until they attend a picturesque barn dance together, at which Charles Bickford, who plays a villainous teamster, kisses Miss Dunne and starts a fight with Scott.

Scott persuades Miss Dunne not to leave town with her show, and they are married in a colorful ceremony at Scott's Pennsylvania farm home. Just after their marriage, while they are on a hill where they plan to build their new home, oil gushes from Scott's oil derrick, the first one in the country. At once the city is plunged into turmoil, with farmers all over the section drilling on their property for oil.

"DOUBLE WEDDING" OFFERS LAUGHS TO LOCAL THEATRE PATRONS

WILLIAM POWELL AND MYRNA LOY

Mr. and Mrs. Thin Man are back again in another uproarious comedy hit. This time the famous William Powell-Myrna Loy co-starring team makes its appearance in "Double Wedding," an adaptation of the Ferenc Molnar continental stage success, "Great Love." The new picture is being shown today and Saturday, Nov. 19-20 at the Palm Springs Theatre. With Powell cast as a penniless but devil-may-care artist who lives in a trailer, and Miss Loy as the owner of a fashionable New York gown shop, the laugh-padded new story describes the efforts of the heroine to prevent her younger sister from marrying Powell instead of the man she herself has picked out for her. As may be suspected, in the end, Miss Loy falls for the irresistible Mr. Powell herself.

EDDIE CANTOR STARS IN 20TH'S HI-DE-HILARIOUS MIRTH-MUSICAL, "ALI BABA GOES TO TOWN"

EDDIE CANTOR

Fun-making Eddie Cantor and hit-making Twentieth Century-Fox have combined their talents for the first time and really go to town as the comedy king of screen and radio stars in the most hi-de-hilarious, extra-glorious entertainment either have ever made, "Ali Baba Goes to Town," featuring Tony Martin, Roland Young, June Lang, Louise Hovick and a tremendous cast, which plays at the Palm Springs Theatre Sunday and Monday, Nov. 21-22.

This picture tops any that Eddie Cantor has ever done, and marks the beginning of a new and important phase in his brilliant career. Important is the revolutionary new three-tone tinted process utilizing sepia and copper as the basic effects. A combination of blue and orange, mixed with copper is used for the night sequences, while sepia, amber and copper provide the special effect for the daytime episodes.

The new, surprising Cantornado of laughter becomes a grab-bag of fun as Eddie turns Baghdad into Gadget when he snaps it up to date with a head-tax on harems, a tail-tax on camels, a harem-reduction program, slips carpet tacks under the sit-down strikers, and snaps the Sultan into step with the march of time.

A tremendous cast of entertainers, including John Carradine, Virginia Field, Alan Dinehart and Douglas Dumbrille in addition to hundreds of lush harem beauties, about a million wild-riding Arab horsemen and hundreds of dancing Oriental darlings, is featured.

MARY CARLISLE PLAYS CENTER!

Miss Carlisle is part of a love triangle in the film which is composed of herself, Lew Ayres and John Howard. Miss Carlisle played not long ago in another film with Ayres, entitled "Lady Be Careful."

In "Hold 'Em Navy," Miss Carlisle is a point of conflict between Ayres and Howard, who are also rivals for the post of quarterback on the Navy team. Ayres' bragging alienates Mary, who would like him if he were less conceited, but when he stays out of the Army-Navy game in order to let Howard play, she is won over completely.

Cast in this new film with Miss Carlisle, Howard and Ayres are some of the favorites among the screen's younger actors, including Benny Baker, Archie Twitchell, Lambert Rogers, Lee Bennett and Alston Cockrell; and two popular veterans, Elizabeth Patterson and Tully Marshall.

"Hold 'Em Navy" was directed by Kurt Neumann.

ALL KING'S HORSES CAN'T SUPPLY TAILS NEEDED IN PICTURE

"Wanted: 75 horses' tails." This item on the prop list during the making of Gaumont's "King Solomon's Mines," threw the entire property department into a state of utter panic.

It was a relatively simple matter to collect the shark's teeth, tiger claws, monkey paws, the African oddities and ornaments demanded by the script. A single afternoon's shopping produced an enormous witch-doctor's punch, made from an empty tortoise-shell hung with bits of hair and a few beads. Without too many headaches, the costume department produced a magnificent caros of emu feathers, to be worn by Paul Robeson in his role of an African chief—a caros being a huge cape hanging to the ground.

"King Solomon's Mines" is the screen version of Rider Haggard's famous narrative. Its cast is headed by Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Roland Young, Anna Lee, John Loder and Paul Robeson. It will be shown Friday and Saturday, Nov. 26 and 27 at the Palm Springs Theatre.

Jobless Count Equals Scope of War Draft

The Federal government Tuesday began distribution of 60,000,000 questionnaires to every household of the country in an unprecedented attempt to enumerate the number of unemployed.

Some 31,000,000 homes—ranging from the White House to the most dilapidated hovel—will be included in the scope of the jobless census.

Its immediate result, it is anticipated, will be to crystallize suggestions for a long range reemployment program, based upon the findings of the enumeration and designed to reduce relief expenditures now a factor in continued unbalance of the budget.

Fourteen questions are listed on the cards to be circulated in the most sweeping enterprise of its sort since the World War registration. The answers must be mailed, free of postage, by midnight next Saturday.

Principal objectives of the census, in addition to determining the number of permanently and totally unemployed, are answers to these questions:

1—What are the general age limits of the great majority of jobless and in what industries are most of the older unemployed located?

2—What are the geographical locales of the most prevalent numbers of jobless?

3—What industries have contributed most to unemployment?

4—What number of the unemployed now are receiving relief from states, municipalities or the federal government?

The census is under supervision of John D. Biggers, Ohio glass manufacturer. The job was created in a bill passed in the last session of congress.

"My hope is that the information collected will point toward certain definite things that can be done to help the large masses of unemployed," Biggers said.

"Now is the logical time for action. The recent business recession has indicated the necessity for really tackling this problem.

"So far the burden of relief has been the primary cause for unbalance of the budget. The right thing to do is to find a constructive way out.

A Bird and Animal Sanctuary In Palm Springs

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nesmith ask that hunters please refrain from shooting quail and other tame birds in the vicinity of their home. This week several of their tame pet quail were wounded by hunters and a number were killed.

For two years the Nesmiths have been feeding wild birds and animals at their home at the foot of the hills until now it is a veritable game refuge. The quail that the marvelous hunters have been shooting in the vicinity of the Nesmith home are so tame that they will eat out of a person's hand.

In the garden about their home the Nesmiths have constructed feed boxes, drinking fountains, and bird baths. Each month they purchase 100 pounds of grain to feed the birds; also bread and crackers. They buy liver and kidneys to feed the animals.

Among the birds that live around their home is a little rock wren they call Jenny. Jenny will come when called and is so tame that she will eat out of a person's hand. Jenny keeps the garden about the Nesmith home free from bugs, one of her favorite dishes being black widow spider. Other birds that frequent this bird paradise are roadrunners, one silver pheasant and quite a number of rock wrens.

When working in the garden, Mrs. Nesmith wears a large Mexican sombrero, and she states that the birds fly down and perch on the rim of the hat while she is working.

A number of interesting animals frequent this game refuge also. Not least of which is a beautiful bobcat which comes in every evening for dinner with the Nesmiths. Then there are the desert fox, a mother coyote and two pups, chipmunks and kangaroo rats.

The birds, chipmunks, and kangaroo rats all eat together in perfect harmony. The bobcat, foxes and coyotes eat separately.

The Nesmiths have found this making friends with wild birds and animals to be a very interesting hobby and one that has paid them dividends as well, for the birds keep their garden absolutely free from all bugs, even black widow spiders. Maybe we should all feed the birds.

"Jack Is Teched
In the Head,"
Says Gray

"What do you know about these fish that Jack Moore says can be caught in the desert?" the reporter asked Earl Gray this week.

"I don't know anything about it," was the reply.

"You're his landlord—you ought to know."

"All I know is that Jack must be a little teched in the head," answered Earl. "He probably got a little screwy or was affected by the heat this summer looking for fish where they are not."

"How about it, Jack? Did you mean trout or suckers when you advertised you would show the natives where to catch fish on the desert?"

The reporter then asked Jack, himself, who is the proprietor of the Royal Palms Coffee Shop.

"I mean trout—nice, big, fat, gamey, fightin' trout—and I'll show you mugs next week right where you can catch them."

So, that's that.

Smart New Coats
Are Being Shown
By I. Magnin

Miss Helen Lindsay, pretty manager of I. Magnin and Company's El Mirador shop, is proudly displaying the two new smart garments for sports wear. One is an imported plaid Spectator sport coat, that is outstanding in new color tones. It is to be worn either over slacks or a sport dress.

The other is a British sack coat. This tailored short jacket is available in a new off-white or in imported tweed mixtures.

The colorful examples of new desert fashions now being shown at I. Magnin's indicate a definite new trend that is very pleasing.

War Admiral's Owner To Come Here

According to Sid Ziff, Herald-Express sports writer, Sam Riddle, owner of the famous War Admiral, will spend the winter in Palm Springs. He reports as follows:

"Florida is trying its best to get War Admiral away from Santa Anita. But it looks like Santa Anita will win because War Admiral's owner, Sam Riddle, expects to spend the winter at Palm Springs. Riddle, the man who retired Man o' War in his prime, doesn't want War Admiral to meet a defeat and will retire him before taking such a chance. War Admiral was beaten as a 2-year-old, but not as a 3-year-old. Man o' War won 20 out of his 21 races, suffering his only defeat as a 2-year-old. In his last racing year as a 3-year-old, Man o' War won the Lawrence Realization Stakes by 100 lengths from his closest rival."

Woelner Says
President Talks
Like Republican

"I liked the last speech the president made. It looks like he is becoming a Republican," was a statement made by Dr. Frederick P. Woelner of U. C. L. A., in his letter to Secretary Frank V. Shannon, when he accepted the invitation to address the meeting of the County Chamber of Commerce at the Desert Inn on December 7. Dr. Woelner's subject will be, "Money In The Bag."

Dr. Woelner is one of the foremost lecturers of Southern California, and he always attracts a large audience. Therefore, it is anticipated there will be a record crowd here for the county gathering. The Palm Springs meeting of the County Chamber is usually the organization's best attended meeting of the year.

Speeding Auto
Narrowly Misses
Hitting Crowd

A serious accident was narrowly averted Wednesday morning in front of the fire and police stations when a car driven by Roderick James Craig of the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel, crashed into the curb, after skidding more than a hundred feet. A large crowd had assembled in the street in front of the police and fire stations to witness the raising of the huge flag pole on the fire hall.

Police report that Craig was driving south into town at such an excessive rate of speed that he could not stop in time, and in order to avoid hitting the crowd he crashed into the curb, breaking the right front wheel of the car. He was placed under arrest on the charge of reckless driving and was cited to appear before Justice of the Peace J. J. Fredericks in Banning.

They report the case is considered serious because the car was allegedly driven at an excessive rate of speed as it passed through the school safety zone.

THE DESERT

measures its life span in hundreds of thousands of years, will outlive the village nestling in the protection of the mighty bulk.

Last Wednesday morning moving objects appeared on the desert and in time became distinguishable as horseback riders jogged along. The Desert Riders were holding their first breakfast ride of the season in Smoke Tree Forest. Horseback riders seemed to be an harmonious part of desert life as they move along in the distance one always wonders who they are and as they approach they are identified long before their faces are recognizable, for each ride in a characteristic manner. Sometimes I wonder what the horses think about it all, but that is beside the point. The desert season opening seems to have been completed when the cavalcade of the Desert Riders' moves across the desert to their early morning outdoor breakfasts.

It was in the fall of the year, somewhat earlier than this, that the old Indians invaded the pinon pine forests to gather a harvest of pine nuts to be used for food. The favorite locality in this vicinity was Pinon Flat which is on the edge of the San Jacinto and Santa Rosa Mountains where there is an extensive forest of pinon pines. Part of Pinon Flat is now occupied by a colony of summer cabins and there is also a Forest Service camp ground. Pinon nuts are gathered by the casual visitor who wanders about under the trees picking up the stray nuts that have fallen.

The Indians went about gathering nuts in a systematic and business-like manner for it was a harvest that formed a vital part of their winter food supply. They would knock the cones from the trees, roast them in front of a fire, the heat causing the cones to open and the nuts to drop out. In some sections the nuts still form an important part of the Indian food stocks; the nuts are stored for their personal consumption or sometimes sold, forming a source of monetary income.

If you happen to be a visitor to Pinon Flat during the right time of the year and are not inclined to work or become covered with resin from the cones, just sit around until a wind arises which will cause some of the cones to fall and as they hit the ground the nuts will shower in all directions. Then it is just a matter of picking up the nuts. You will soon discover by the color which nuts are solid and which are empty shells. It takes little time to gather a quart or so and if one is diligent a substantial amount may be had.

At Pinon Flat I met Captain Charles Bryan, who was a Chief of Scouts during the Indian wars in the Montana country. Captain Bryan is in his eighties. He is an interesting talker and I listened for hours to his stories of the Indian wars in which he took an active part. During one of the battles he was struck with a tomahawk and now bears a memento in the form of a large lump on the side of his head. Another time he found himself in the embarrassing position of having his foot pinned to the ground by an arrow. After relating the fact he smiled and said, "Oh! I just leaned over, broke the arrow shaft, pulled my foot up and went on."

As the result of the kindness and thoughtfulness of Dr. Russell M. Gray, Palm Springs physician, a young man will receive a Carnegie Medal and a $500 cash award from the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

The youth, Carl W. Miskin, of Montreal, Quebec, Canada, attempted to save two Mexican boys from a burning automobile on the highway near Indio, on May 16, 1936.

A truck with a 50-gallon tank of gasoline on the back of it was traveling east on the highway, followed by a car driven by Jesus Aguilar and another Mexican youth. The truck stopped suddenly and the car crashed into the rear end, bursting the gasoline tank and spraying the Mexican's car with gasoline, which immediately became a raging inferno.

Young Miskin, traveling west in his car, met the two cars just as the crash occurred. He jumped out of his car and tried to rescue the Mexican boys. The doors had been jammed tightly shut from the impact, and Miskin broke a window and climbed into the fire, dragging Aguilar out.

Miskin was burned seriously and was rushed to the Indio hospital. Dr. Russell M. Gray had just started to administer to the youth to relieve his pains, when Aguilar was brought in. Young Miskin pleaded with Dr. Gray to take care of the Mexican boy first. "He is burned much worse than I am, and he will die if you don't take care of him first," he said.

Dr. Gray consented to the boy's request, and after he had taken care of the Mexican youth, he returned to young Miskin. However, he did not forget the boy's bravery and heroism, and immediately reported the matter to the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission. Captain J. R. King of the State Highway Patrol also reported the matter.

This week The Desert Sun received a copy of the letter which the Commission sent to Miskin. The letter follows:

Pittsburgh, Pa.
October 29, 1937.

Mr. Carl W. Miskin,
5165 Sherbrooke Street, West
Montreal, Quebec, Canada.
My Dear Sir:

Through the courtesy of Dr. Russell M. Gray, Hotel Potter Building, Indio, California, and Captain J. R. King, California Highway Patrol, Riverside, California, the attention of the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission has been called to an act performed by you, by which on May 16, 1936, you attempted to rescue Jesus Aguilar from death by burning, near Indio, California. Your case after a thorough investigation was considered at a meeting of the Commission held this afternoon, and I have much pleasure in informing you that in recognition of your heroism on that occasion the Commission awarded you a bronze medal and the sum of $500 to be paid as needed for a worthy purpose to be approved by the Executive Committee.

I shall be obliged if you will kindly advise me without delay whether or not you wish to accept the Commission's award. If your reply is affirmative, the medal will be ordered and will be forwarded to you as soon as it has been received from the manufacturers, and the money will be held for you until it is needed for the purpose which will later be decided by the Executive Committee.

Yours very truly,
CARNEGIE HERO FUND
COMMISSION
By the Manager.

City Directory Ready Soon

The Western Directory Company of Long Beach is making a city directory for Palm Springs. The directory will contain the names of home owners, business and professional folk and will be distributed free-of-charge to every business house and residence in Palm Springs.

Every store and house on Palm Canyon Drive and Indian Avenue has been given a number which will be shown in the directory and the directory will contain a map showing the corresponding location of the numbers. There will also be a map of the entire village showing the location of every street, making it possible to locate any house or store.

A complete house to house canvass of the village has been made and a re-check is being made to make the directory as complete as possible. Nearly every business man in the village has subscribed to and has co-operated to his fullest extent to make the directory complete.

At the present time few people can direct tradesmen or friends to their location. The directory information is presented in such a manner that no trouble will be encountered in the future. However, some houses are not occupied and anyone who feels he may have been missed and desires to be listed, please call Palm Springs 5766 or write to the Western Directory Company, 303 Kress Building, Long Beach. The directory is now ready to go to press and any additional listings must be made immediately.

Apache To Be De Luxe Train

The Southern Pacific Railway will soon inaugurate a new train schedule which will prove advantageous to Palm Springs. The Apache will leave Chicago at 10 a. m., arriving here about 5:30 p. m. and will reach Los Angeles at 8:40, in time to connect with the Lark for San Francisco.

The train will have full dining car service, a 3-2 sleeper lounge, 10 section drawing rooms, and two-compartment sleepers. There will also be a room car three days a week, and special cars for Palm Springs and Phoenix.

The cars for the Apache are now being remodeled in the Southern Pacific Shops.

Community Church Notes

Bible School Sunday morning, 9:45. There were 145 present last Sunday morning, and three additional teachers are needed.

At 11 o'clock the series of discourses on the Sermon on the Mount will be continued. The topic will be "Ye Are the Light of the World."

Junior League at 6:30 o'clock. Following this will be a 'Fellowship Hour' for all young people. Light refreshments will be served.

Tuesday at 2 o'clock the Community Circle will hold its semi-monthly meeting at the church. Bring your thimble and sewing. This is an opportunity for all ladies of the village to become acquainted and enjoy a social hour with a cup of tea served by the committee.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held at 10 o'clock next Thursday morning.

The Christmas Tree program for all the children of Palm Springs will be held Thursday, Dec. 23 at 2 o'clock in the golf course. The Lions Club is cooperating with the Community church in the arrangements of this happy event. There will be a Santa Claus parade with program at the tree.

WANT RIGHTS-OF-WAY FOR PALM SPRINGS ROADS

Guy Pinney of Palm Springs appeared before the Riverside county board of supervisors, Monday, to stress the need of the county's accepting a federal offer of rights of way for county roads along section lines bordering Indian reservation lands at Palm Springs.

District Attorney Earl Redwine was authorized to draw up a resolution accepting the rights of way and the federal maps were filed. It was declared that the Indians will still be permitted certain toll rights for the Palm Canyon road even after the county obtains supervision of the highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Difani of Riverside have purchased this week a homesite in Desert Acres, the estates of Betty K. Cree. Henceforth they will be known as real "Palm Springs." Their friends here welcome them as such.

Mr. Difani is an attorney of prominence, and active in civic affairs in Riverside. He has served as State Senator of this Congressional District for two terms, carrying on the interests of the people with sincerity and intelligence. For this season he is again opening his law office in the real estate building of Roberta F. Seaton, to whom goes the credit for the sale of the newly acquired homesite.

Friday of each week will find Mr. Difani present—cordial, alert, and willing to serve his clients.
